Crowd Gathers Early for Big Fight

RING FANS IN VIGIL AT GATE

Firpo Puts Away Two Heavy Meals In Three Short Hours

Cold Weather Clothing In Order As Ticket Line Forms

(By United Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Lines of fans, in usual world series raiment and world series manner, stretched before the bleacher gates at the Polo Grounds early this morning, with $3.30 each to see the Dempsey-Firpo fight tonight.

Several of the early birds had kept vigil from midnight with only the first of the police guard that has been thrown around the grounds to keep them company.

Sweaters and overcoats were prevailing and lunch baskets and bundles were brought along to keep up physical courage for the long wait until 4:30 this afternoon when the ticket windows open.

Temperature at 10:30 a. m. reached as low as 58 degrees and a few drops of rain spilled out of the low hanging clouds.

The first official act of the ceremonies preliminary to the fight was staged this afternoon when the champion and the challenger were weighed by the boxing commission.

Dempsey tipped the scales at 192½ pounds and Firpo weighed 216½ pounds.

The two principals appeared at the office of the boxing commission a little after 1 o'clock. William Muldoon, chairman of the commission, tested the scales and then adjusted the weights when the fighters stepped on the scales.

Such a crowd had gathered outside the Flatiron building in which the commission is located that police were called to prevent a rushing of the doors.

With two huge feeds under his ponderous belt, Firpo was ready early this afternoon for his fight tonight.

When the South American champion arose at 10:30 this morning, he consumed a breakfast consisting of a large steak, six eggs, some toast and seven glasses of milk.

Shortly before 1 o'clock when he had dressed to make the journey to the scales, he led his party to a Broadway restaurant, where he partook of a light luncheon consisting of a small steak, six eggs, some assorted fruit and several glasses of milk.

Such a crowd gathered outside the eating place to see the Argentinian that police reserves had to be called to clear a way for his exit.

"If I hit Dempsey, he will go down for the count of 100," Firpo said, in his only comment on tonight's championship battle.

Tex Rickard was not discouraged by the break in the weather. He has been unusually successful in gambling with the weather and he was banking on his proverbial luck to avoid necessity of a postponement.

In all his experience, Rickard has never lost a contest on account of rain. He has no rain insurance on the fight today and said he would postpone the fight until tomorrow if necessary.

The fighters remained in seclusion this morning until time to weigh in. Dempsey at his hotel and Firpo in his apartment.

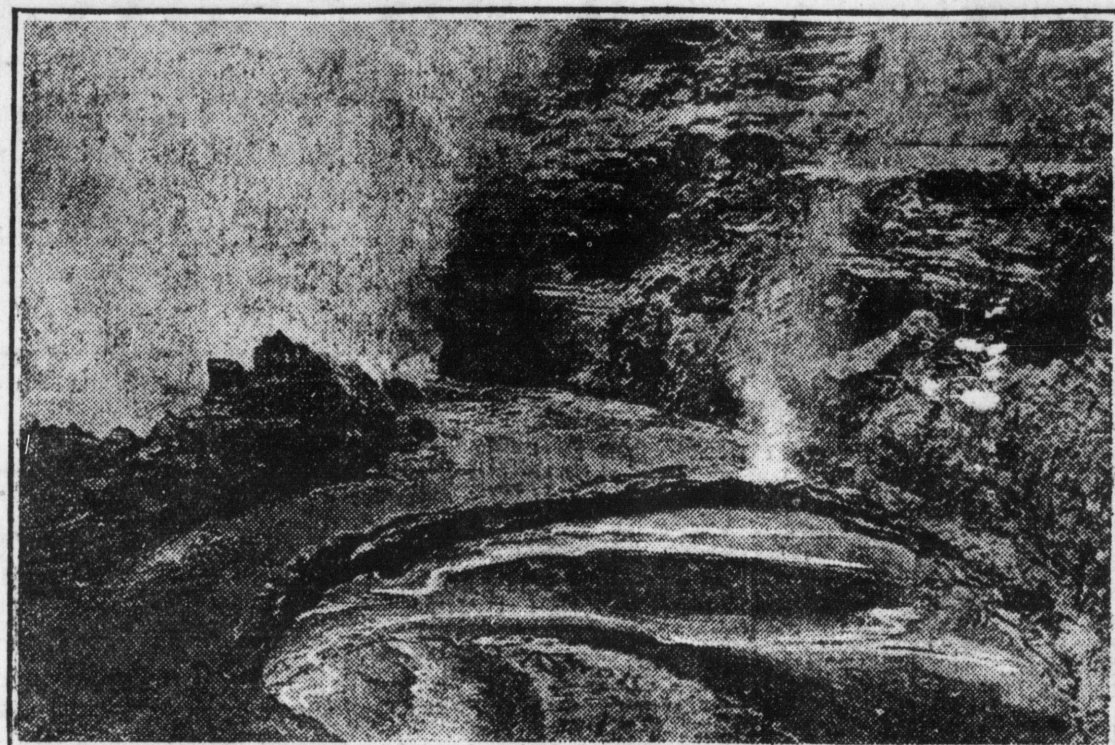

Roracio Lavelle, Firpo's trainer, said that the South American retired at 11 o'clock last night and that he "slept late" this morning.

He said his charge was showing no signs of nervousness and had spent a very restful night. He said that the "nerves" were confined to himself and the other members of Firpo's household and that they didn't put in a very restful night.

"We are not losing confidence but we have not the iron will and the steel nerves of Firpo," he said.

Dempsey and all his retinue were sequestered at his hotel. Phones were disconnected and permission to visit his suite was denied by hotel officials. House detectives were around to lend force to the order if necessary.

Kilauea's Rumbblings Frighten Natives of Hawaiian Islands

HILO, Hawaii, Sept. 14.—Natives, mindful of the Japanese earthquake disaster, are looking fearfully at Mt. Kilauea, most famous volcano of the Hawaiian islands.

Recently it has been very active. This is especially true since the quakes in Japan, and it indicated it was due for a violent and

TULSA PAPER UNDER RULE OF CENSOR

Oklahoma Governor Takes Drastic Step to End Riot Danger

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 14.—Turner Roy Rorark, a linotype operator when not on duty as major in the Oklahoma national guard, entered the office of the Tulsa Tribune today and began a censorship of the paper's news.

The military censor had been ordered by Governor J. C. Walton to take up his duty in the Tribune office as one measure of stricter enforcement of martial law here, promulgated due to many floggings in the country.

The major wiped his glasses and started wielding a long pair of scissors and a big blue pencil, editing any of The Tribune's copy which he thought might tend to "incite riot" in the area under martial law.

"I have been connected with the mechanical ends of country newspapers for 20 years," Major Rorark told the United Press as he began his duties. He is 35 years of age.

When called into military duty for service in the Tulsa flogging investigation the major was employed as a linotype operator on the Tulsa Tribune at Oklahoma City. Previous to that he was at the Frederick, Okla., Leader, in the mechanical department.

The Tribune received the major with cold courtesy. The staff gave him a desk on which to work and arranged for him to see all proofs.

SECRECY STILL SHROUDS NAVY CRASH PROBE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 14.—While secrecy still shrouds the official naval investigation of the disaster which left seven destroyers on the rocks and cost the lives of twenty-two men, it was discovered here today that eleven destroyers in all were damaged on the reefs of Point Arguello. The destroyers Kennedy and Marcus were also damaged, it was learned.

The Farragut, Somers and Marcus, which were damaged but were able to reach here under their own power, will go into drydock at once. The Kennedy just scraped the rocks, and injuries to her hull were not serious.

The apparent attempt on the part of navy officials to conceal the extent of the damage is causing widespread criticism. The Farragut, Somers, Marcus and Kennedy slipped into the harbor here unheralded and no information was imparted that they had been damaged until newspaper men dug the fact out three or four days later through conversations with members of the crews.

The widespread discrepancy in the supposed positions of the destroyers and the actual positions, is causing much speculation and comment. One statement made immediately after the disaster by a high official said that they at first thought they were aground on San Miguel island—seventy-two miles away. Other statements showed navigators thought they were from eight to twenty miles off shore.

Local naval officials are making every effort to keep facts of the disaster wrapped at Fort Hondo from the public, it was charged today.

It was pointed out that the inquiry is being postponed for a week from the time of the crash, an unusual procedure in naval affairs. None of the testimony will reach the public, Admiral William V. Pratt, senior member of the inquiry board announced today.

The conclusions of the board only will be made public.

Captain H. L. Brinser in command at the fleet repair base, and Captain Thomas T. Craven, of the naval air station, today prohibited the sale of one San Diego newspaper, which has been printing information about the wreck and treatment of survivors, on their reservations.

SAY ORANGE MAN READY TO ACCEPT

Attorney Changes Mind As to Willingness to Take Up Judicial Duties

That Attorney Frank C. Drumm, of Orange, would be appointed a judge of the superior court of Orange county, seemed certain today when it became known that Governor F. W. Richardson had offered the appointment to Drumm and that Drumm had accepted the appointment with the provision that he be given sufficient time in which to close up his legal practice.

Attorneys who discussed the matter today said that they are certain that the Governor will give Drumm whatever time he needs to settle his affairs.

It is believed that Drumm will be ready to go upon the bench within five weeks, possibly within a month.

For Third Department
The judgeship offered to Drumm is for the third department of the superior court. The judges of the other departments are Z. B. West, whose health has been such that he has been unable to be on the bench for several months, and R. Y. Williams. The third department was created by the last legislature, and became established the middle of August. No appointment, however, was made. A few days ago, the bar association of the county sent a message to the governor urging immediate appointment of a judge.

About two weeks ago, Drumm notified Governor Richardson that he desired to withdraw his application for appointment. Some legal business was in prospect that Drumm could not accept if he intended going on the bench. The offer of the Governor to appoint Drumm, however, has forestalled the acceptance of this legal business, and Drumm is still free to accept appointment.

Three Sought Post
There were three applicants for the position, Drumm, of Orange; E. J. Marks, of Fullerton, and James L. Allen, Santa Ana. It was known that Governor Richardson was also giving consideration to the name of W. H. Thomas, former judge of the superior court here.

Attorneys who know Drumm say that he has a sound foundation for the judgeship, and is temperamentally fitted to be an excellent judge. Drumm, on completing his studies at the University of Indiana, as a young man entered the University of Oregon, where he took a law degree. For eight years he practiced law at Wenatchee, Ore., and ten years ago moved to Orange, where he has since been engaged in his practice. He has held the position of city attorney of Orange and has held a substantial practice.

4 JUDGES PRO-TEM NAMED HERE
Acting upon a recommendation by the Orange County Bar Association, Superior Judge R. Y. Williams here today appointed four attorneys to serve, in turn, as judges pro-tem in department 1 of the superior court, which, because of Judge Z. B. West's illness, has not been in session.

Attorneys Clyde Bishop, of the firm of Bishop and Wellington, Santa Ana; A. W. Rutan of Head, Rutan and Scovel, Santa Ana; Stanley Reinhardt, of Scarborough, Ford and Reinhardt, Santa Ana; and Homer G. Ames, of Ames and McFadden, Anaheim, accepted appointment.

UNASSISTED TRIPLE PLAY FOR BOSTON

Red Sox's First Sacker Cuts Down Three Cleveland Indians by Spectacular Play.

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—George Burns, Red Sox first baseman, today staged the first unassisted big league triple play since Wamby of the Cleveland Indians made one at the expense of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the world's series of 1920.

Burns made his triple play in the second inning of today's game with the Indians when Brower lined to him after Stephenson singled and Lutzke walked. It was a hit and run play and Burns tagged Lutzke out, then ran to second before Stephenson could get back to that bag.

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM WOMAN 'BLUEBEARD'

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Lydia Southard, convicted of second degree murder at Twin Falls, Idaho, for poisoning four husbands and a brother-in-law, and now serving time in the Idaho penitentiary, may soon be a grass widow for the first time in her career.

Paul V. Southard, husband No. 5, who was living in Honolulu with the "bluebeard" when she was arrested, today asked Judge Fleming for a divorce. He brought suit on the ground that his wife had been convicted of a felony. His plea has been taken under consideration by the court.

Southard, a former petty officer in the navy, is now engaged in selling automobiles here.

The captain-general of Madrid was charged with maintaining order in the capital, being authorized by the king to maintain martial law if necessary.

LONDON SEES SUCCESS FOR REBEL MOVEMENT
LONDON, Sept. 14.—A military revolution in Spain, with all the earmarks of the fascist movement in Italy, appeared to be nearing a successful conclusion today.

All dispatches from Spain have emphasized the desire of the military leaders to undertake rejuvenation of the Spanish empire along the lines successfully carried out by Benito Mussolini and his black shifted fascists in Italy.

Observers here say the closest parallel between the Spanish military movement and that of the "black shirts" in Italy and considered it entirely probable that the Spanish juntas got their idea from the dynamic editor of Milan who is attempting to restore Italy's former glories.

Mussolini early announced his complete loyalty to the king and declared he intended only to oust the spineless politicians of the old school who were unable to oppose successfully the inroads of communism and decay.

Primo de Rivera, leading the Spanish revolutionists, has announced the same program.

MADRID, Sept. 14.—The king today charged the Barcelona revolutionary leader, Captain-General Primo de Riveira, with formation of a new government.

Selection of the revolutionary leader to form a new cabinet would indicate the revolution has ended in complete triumph for the military juntas, who presumably will start immediately carrying out their program which calls for:

1.—A vigorous campaign against the Moorish rebels in Morocco.

2.—Suppression of communism and separatism.

3.—Satisfaction of the legitimate demands of Catalonia, Galicia and Biscaya, but with preservation of the national unity.

Oppose Separation
The revolutionists, it was indicated, will not tolerate separation of Catalonia from the Spanish state and will stand firm in their loyalty to the king and the monarchy.

King Alfonso arrived here at 10 a. m. today to take charge of his revolution-torn country.

His majesty was accorded a tremendous welcome and was received by members of the government, civil and military authorities.

Soon after arrival of the monarch Premier Marquis de Alhucemas tendered his resignation because of the king's request for time to consider the cabinet's demands.

Entire Cabinet Quits
The resignation included the entire membership of the cabinet.

The situation continued calm up to an early hour this morning.

The Madrid garrison, which remained in its barracks, had prepared an enormous demonstration of loyalty to greet the king, but continued neutral in its attitude toward the government of Premier Marquis Alhucemas.

The Barcelona revolters, who already have declared their complete loyalty to the crown, also were reported ready to telegraph renewed fealty to King Alfonso on his arrival in the capital.

JAIL OFFICER OF BROKERAGE HOUSE IN OHIO FAILURE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
EATON, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Dwight Harrison of Columbus, Ohio, 46, and general manager of the $80,000,000 R. L. Dollings Fiscal Brokerage House, now in the hands of receivers, is in jail here on indictments charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses, it was learned today.

Harrison was indicted secretly by a Preble county grand jury in connection with the state-wide investigation of the big brokerage house and was arrested last night by Sheriff Nehrl.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—A warrant for the arrest of William G. Benham, president of the R. L. Dollings company, has been issued on indictments returned by the Preble county grand jury. Attorney General Crabbe of Ohio announced today.

Benham, with Dwight Harrison, vice president of the company, was named in fourteen counts charging he obtained money under false pretense, Crabbe said.

The grand jury investigated the affairs of the Fiscal Brokerage House and its officers. It was conducted by the Preble county grand jury under direction of Attorney General Crabbe and Preble county prosecutor Alf G. Sheer.

IDAHO AUTHORITIES WANT MAN IN L. A.

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—A telegraphic warrant asking the arrest and extradition to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, of H. R. Roshon, alias A. E. Woods, the "wholesale husband," now held here, was received by local authorities today from the Idaho city.

The arrest asks that he be held on a charge of "polygamy" as a result of his alleged marriage to Alma E. Schneider in that city on Nov. 3, 1920.

Roshon has been held in jail ever since his arrest when a notebook containing the names of 60 Los Angeles women was found in his possession.

He has confessed, according to the police, to having married seven times without having gone through the formality of a divorce.

The fighters remained in seclusion this morning until time to weigh in. Dempsey at his hotel and Firpo in his apartment.

Roracio Lavelle, Firpo's trainer, said that the South American retired at 11 o'clock last night and that he "slept late" this morning.

The president and his chief advisers, while they have not yet formulated the details of the administration's legislative program, have determined on certain guiding principles.

These include:
1.—Exclusion of everything likely to bring about a "jam" or cause defeat of the administration forces.

2.—Inclusion, in addition to the necessary routine, of only such new legislation as has been carefully considered before hand and which is obviously necessary.

3.—Postponement of most of the great controversial legislative questions for later consideration and action.

Rickard Sets Early Hour For Big Bout

Tex Rickard, who is staging tonight's big battle for the world's heavyweight championship, early today advanced the time for the main event from 6 to 5:30 p. m. Pacific coast time. Local fight fans who wish to receive fight returns over The Register's leased wire leading to the ringside at the Polo grounds in New York are urged to secure their seats at Birch Park early.

The Register's wire will lead into the bandstand at the park and the megaphone man will give the results from there. No returns will be announced from The Register building.

The Register wire will open at 4:00 p. m. in order to provide the fans with detailed accounts of the preliminary bouts.

MUSIC SCHOOL PUPILS PLAY FOR KFAW

It was necessary to make a change in the program scheduled for KFAW last night, and, instead of the faculty members of the Sherwood music school presenting the radio entertainment, the pupils of that school offered an interesting and enjoyable hour of music for KFAW. The Register radio-phonograph. The ages of the young musicians ranged from 8 to 14 years of age.

The playing of the young students reflected credit upon the music school and indicated that Santa Ana's musical future will be well taken care of, as more than ordinary talent was displayed by several of the young people who played for KFAW last night. The evening's program was arranged and presented under the personal direction of Miss Leonora Tompkins of the school.

The complete program was made of the following piano numbers: "Jolly Workmen" (Gaynor), George Miles, aged 9; "Darling Heart" (Weidig) and "Indians" (Bilbro), Josephine Stamm, aged 8; "Horn Pipe" and "Woodpecker," June White, aged 9; "The Hobgoblins" (Gaynor) and "The Sleep Song" (Gaynor), Floyd Best, aged 8; "Will o' the Wisp" (Quigley), Juanita Anderson, aged 12; "The Goblins' Procession" (Matthews) and "The Skating Party" (Dutton), Peggy Carmody, aged 9; "Fireflies," (Grant), Elizabeth Cleary, aged 10; "The Curious Story" (Heller), Arla Elwood, aged 14; "Woodland Sprites," "Songstress on the Bough" and "Murmuring Brook," Lois Allen, aged 13.

The final numbers of the evening were given by Miss De Etta Miller, a student-teacher of the school. Her selections were Crieg's "Butterfly" and Scott's "Danse Caprice." Both were excellently rendered, showing good technique and perfect understanding.

Hunter played brilliant tennis but was completely outclassed by the superior tennis of the little Californian.

Millinery House Gets Award from S. A. Shop

Judgment for $102 had been awarded by Justice J. B. Cox today to Louis Krokover and Jacob Gray, proprietors of a Los Angeles wholesale millinery house, against Frank W. Castle and Francis X. Campbell, owners of a Santa Ana shop, said to have been recently declared bankrupt. Suit was based on a note, demand being made for $185.85.

Justice Cox heard the case late yesterday, the defendants being represented by Attorney James L. Davis.

pointment, under an arrangement whereby each will serve a week on the bench.

The appointments were the outcome of the bar's move to relieve congestion in the superior court. The order in which the attorneys will serve will be determined by agreement between the attorneys themselves, it was announced. Department 1 will probably begin sessions Tuesday, it was stated.

Attorneys appointed were selected, it was stated, not only because of their qualifications, but because of the fact that they have partners who can care for the firm's business during their absence will mean less of a financial loss to them than to attorneys practicing alone, whose offices might be forced to close during the time they were on the bench. All of the appointees, also, are members of firms whose volume of cases now before the court is seriously affected by the congested state of the calendars.

AIR PILOT, NEPHEW OF S. A. MAN, KILLED

After flying hundreds of thousands of miles, and after concluding that he would abandon the air for a home on the ground somewhere in California, H. C. Thompson, air mail pilot, was killed while on his mail route between Cleveland and Chicago.

Word to this effect reached his uncle, R. J. Thompson, former city trustee of Santa Ana, 402 Orange avenue, in a telegram from the air pilot's father, W. B. Thompson, of Harvey, Ill.

H. C. Thompson was an aircraft captain overseas. For the past three years he has been flying in the air mail service. It was while R. J. Thompson was visiting his brother that the flier declared his intention of quitting the service and coming to California to live.

JAIL BOY AS GIRL, 9, MURDER VICTIM

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 14.—Clark Goffield, 17-year-old school boy, is being held in the Bexar county jail today for safe keeping following his arrest at Spring Branch late yesterday on a charge of slaying 9-year-old Irene Hilsfelder while she was on her way to school.

The body of the little school girl was found in a clump of bushes near the road with her skull crushed.

Goffield was arrested shortly after the body was found. He is said to have admitted the crime.

Attorney's Illness Delays Liquor Plea

Owing to the illness of his attorney, J. R. ("Shorty") Coates, charged with having liquor in his possession, still was waiting here today to enter his plea to the charge.

Coates' arraignment, set for late yesterday in Justice J. B. Cox's court, was continued to next Monday, at 2 p. m., when it was learned that Attorney W. F. Menton, representing Coates, was ill and unable to attend court.

Coates, held under $500 bail, was arrested last Saturday night when officers raided his place, west of Wintersburg, and claimed that they broke up a "party" attended by twenty-one men and nine women.

Truck Driver Hurt As Machine Turtles

Walter Hodges, 42-year-old Long Beach truck driver, was in the Artesia hospital today, slightly cut about the face and arms, the result of his empty truck overturning on him at dusk last night, on the Artesia-Long Beach road, in Orange county, it was learned here.

Passing autoists, several from this county, righted the truck and took the driver to the hospital. Mechanical difficulties were blamed.

News Briefs

The Mennesotans are among the most loyal to the memory of the old home state and their picnic reunions are jolly affairs. It was stated in a communication received here today, announcing the next picnic, to be held in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles,
all day Saturday, September 22.

Income taxpayers who use the installment plan in dealing with the federal government have been notified that tomorrow is the last day for making the third quarterly payment of the 1922 tax.

Michigan folk of all Southern California are looking forward to the mammoth picnic reunion to be held all day tomorrow in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.
All the usual picnic attractions will be on the program, it was said.

A notice of sale on record today shows the transfer of the beauty shop at 607 North Main street from Jordin M. Lewis to

Mrs. Roxie Self, of this city sustained a broken finger today in an accident at the Santacala mills.
Mrs. Self was treated at the Community hospital, where it was stated that she would be able to return to her home tonight.

Orange county Y. M. C. A. secretaries and their families retired to the sylvan quiet of Camp Lewis, in Santiago canyon, today, to prepare a fall program of activities.
George Chessum, general county secretary; T. P. McKee, Santa Ana community secretary; C. E. Mor-her husband.

Persons using water of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company today were paying 80 cents, instead of $1, for 100 inches each hour, the new rate becoming effective at 6 o'clock this morning, it was announced at the company offices at Orange. The $1 rate was placed into effect May 7. The company pumps have been shut down, it was learned, the natural flow of the Santa Ana river taking care of decreased irrigation needs.

BOHEMIANS TO PLAY

S. F. ON AUGUST 17

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—
Following the custom of giving a public performance of the principal numbers from the Grove play, the Bohemian club will present its annual concert in the Tivoli opera house on Friday afternoon, August 17.

Joseph D. Redding is the author of this year's Grove play, "Semper Virens," and the music is the work of Henry Imball Hadley, the eminent American composer, and former conductor of the San Francisco symphony orchestra.

Excerpts from the play will be given under Hadley's direction by an orchestra of seventy, a chorus of 140 and several soloists, including Henri Scott, basso of the Metropolitan and Chicago opera companies.

George Whitefield Chadwick, the distinguished American composer, director of the New England Conservatory of Music, will conduct the orchestra in a reading of his ballade, "Tam O'Shanter." Other interesting features are being arranged by the concert committee of the Bohemian club, consisting of James K. Armsby, Allan C.
Balch, Eugene Blanchard, C. T.
Crocker, Charles H. Kendrick,
William H. Leashy, R. C. Newell,
Joseph D. Redding, R. I. Rogers,
Fred R. Sherman and Joseph S.
Thompson.

"GRAND TO HAVE YOUR HEALTH"
says Mrs. Jenny Evans, of Detroit, Mich. Few of us appreciate our health until we lose it. Mrs. Evans worked in a factory, but owing to a weakness, and pains in her back she was forced to give up work. She says: "A ham's Vegetable Compound and it made me well. It is the best I have found to give me well all the time and to go around like other women without that awful torture of female troubles." Women who are suffering from such troubles should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the tried and true medicine, now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for female ills.

S. A. ELKS WILL ATTEND STATE CONVENTION

Elks affiliated with many lodges in Southern California, including Santa Ana and Anaheim representatives, today were making active preparations for attending the sessions of the California State
Elks' association, to be held at Eureka, the most westerly city in the United States, September 19 to 22.

Among those who will go to Eureka from Santa Ana lodge No.
794 are Secretary W. W. Wasser,
William F. Lutz, E. J. Deltrich,
W. C. Wieland, W. L. Jordan, A.
E. Hawley, T. A. Robinson, N.
Peterson and others.

Leave Tomorrow
Secretary Wasser, accompanied by Mrs. Wasser and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Johnson, will leave for Eureka tomorrow noon.

Virtually all those going from Santa Ana will make the trip by automobile. A. E. Hawley, with a number of Anaheim Elks, will take the special train leaving Los Angeles next Tuesday at noon.

The baseball team of the Anaheim lodge will also go to Eureka on the special train, together with a number of Los Angeles and Pasadena Elks.

Return Sept. 22
The special train will leave
Eureka at midnight, September 22, for the return trip to Southern California.

The convention, which will be attended by 2500 or 3000 Elks and the members of their families, will be opened with an address of welcome by Governor F.
W. Richardson. There will be a golf tournament on the Humboldt Country club course, a ritualistic contest in the lodge rooms, and drill and band contests at the Eureka baseball park. On the last day of the convention a gi-gantic parade will be staged.

County Treasurer J. C. Joplin was waiting today to enter his plea to a charge of hunting within a game refuge, delay being occasioned by the absence of L. A. West, one of Joplin's attorneys.

Joplin and H. C. Head, associated with West as defense counsel, appeared late yesterday before Justice J. B. Cox, at the time set for pleading, and asked that the proceedings be continued to September 28, at 2 p. m.

The defense, in asking this delay until West returns, indicated that it wished to proceed with the utmost care in laying the foundation for its fight against the charge which Joplin has announced of using as a test of the state law, which provides that private property may be included within game preserves without consent of the owner.

Joplin was arrested while hunting upon his own ranch in Bell canyon, the property being included in a game refuge.

Construction Affray
Charge Here Denied

G. W. Willingham, said to be employed near the West Fifth street bridge, Santa Ana, was today awaiting trial before Justice
J. B. Cox October 3, at 2 p. m., on a charge of battery, preferred by
R. G. Crouch of this city.

Crouch, employed laying floors in a new dwelling under construction on West Fifth street, declared that Willingham attacked him because he refused to obey Willing-ham's orders to lay the flooring in a certain manner. Crouch said he was employed by a contractor and when Willingham made his alleged demands, he told the latter, he said, to wait until the contractor arrived.
This statement, he said, angered Willingham.

Willingham, when arraigned before Justice Cox late yesterday, pleaded not guilty. He was released on his own recognizance.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Campaign Will Continue

Aiming to obtain fifty new members by December 27, when it is planned to hold the largest class initiation in the history of the local organization, members of the Santa Ana lodge No. 20, Fraternal Brotherhood, last night voted to continue their membership campaign to that date.

A committee, composed of Mrs.
Howard Fitzgerald, Mrs. Addie F.
Crane, Mrs. S. E. Deck, Mrs. J. H.
Briggs, Mrs. J. D. Sanborn and Mrs.
George Gray, was appointed to prepare plans for the juvenile lodge picnic, September 20.

Alleged Attack Case

Charge Given Denial

Joe Arias, Placentia, charged with battery in connection with an alleged attack upon J. E. Jessup near that place, today pleaded not guilty in Justice J. B. Cox's court, where his trial was set for November 14, at 2 p. m. Bail was set at $25.

The alleged assault upon Jessup was said to have taken place yesterday, following an altercation over fertilizer.

MEXICAN GRADE SCHOOL HERE IS CLOSED

Santa Fe school, used exclusively by Mexican pupils here, was closed today by order of J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools.

With only thirteen students enrolled at the institution and with prospect that not more than twenty-five would be in attendance even after the walnut crop is harvested, Cranston declared it impracticable to further continue the school.

Mrs. Earl Abbey, principal, and Miss Vivian McPharen, instructor, were notified to take up their duties at Artesia school. Three-fourths of the Santa Ana pupils will attend the Logan street school and one-fourth will go to the John Muir school.

At the same time, Cranston declared investigations showed that many Mexicans here are returning to their native country with the prospect there of a stable government and discontinuance of unsettled conditions.

"Several years ago school officials investigated most of the Mexican homes in the city," Cranston said. "They found at that time not more than four or five families who expressed a desire to become citizens of the United States."

"Investigation this fall indicated that numerous Mexican families already had begun moving back to Mexico. This movement naturally caused a decrease in our Mexican registration."

The Santa Fe school property is considered of excellent real estate value. Cranston refused to comment on a report that the property would be sold.

CLERGYMEN TO BE ACTORS IN BIBLE PLAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—A number of east-bay ministers are to become actors, temporarily, of course, and for the purpose of advancing the teachings of the Bible, when the biblical drama, "Jeremiah," is presented at the Greek theater in Berkeley. The date for the presentation of the historic play has not been definitely set by J. P. Whitman and Eleanor Wood Whitman, authors and producers of the play. The Whitmans have been occupied with the task of selecting the cast, and announced that rehearsals would probably be completed and the play ready for presentation the last week in August or the first in September.

Outline of Plot
The foreword of the drama suggests the idea around which the plot is centered:

"What are 2500 years as compared with the cycle of time? True! To our infinite minds much has happened since the boy, Jeremiah, in his hilltop home of Judah, heard the call of his God to 'Go and cry in the ears of Jerusalem,' but human nature has not changed during the intervening centuries."

"Jerusalem, sitting upon its mountain top has grown prosperous and opulent. With prosperity came luxury and with luxury came corruption. The vigor of the pioneers who had come up out of the land of Egypt had gradually degenerated until a weakling king—Coniah—who typified a people seeking ease and comfort through licentiousness and greed, had come to the throne."

"Due For Fall
"The Daughter of Zion," like Rome many years later, was due for a fall. Her pride had waxed great; her deceit was notorious; her religion was permeated with idolatry. Then came the barbarian, the Babylonian, to gather up a troublesome tribe and carry it away into captivity, just as nature and history will ever do for a people grown anaemic and unfaithful."

"The young Jeremiah saw and understood what was happening in his beloved city; his heart cried out in anguish, his soul yearned to stop a people on the downward road toward destruction."

"As one who lifts his hand to stay the throng of traffic on a crowded boulevard, so did the prophet lift his voice in warning. But the princes and the kings and the maddened populace swept on, hissing and mocking the prophet as they passed."

"Over his dead body they plunged, headlong to their fate. A few who had caught the cry raised by Jeremiah cherished his promise in their hearts, and when, after thirty years of bondage, they returned to rebuild Zion, it was with a purified heart and with love and reverence for the man who saw the truth and who was not afraid to preach it."

More murders are committed in a year in either New York or Chicago than in the whole of the British Isles.

Orange Youth Enters Robbery Charge Denial

Donald Cornellison, Orange youth, today pleaded not guilty to a charge of robbing F. L. Henderson, Orange high school principal, and his trial was set by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams here for November 5, at 10 a. m.

Cornellison was represented in court today by Attorney Clyde Bishop.

OVERSEAS 'VET' GIVEN PRISON TERM HERE

James C. Spencer, 29, recently convicted of passing a forged check for $11.50 upon M. F. Friess, of Santa Ana, today was sentenced to a term of from one to fourteen years at San Quentin.

In passing sentence, Superior Judge R. Y. Williams denied Spencer's plea for probation. Spencer at first attempting to deny that he had been guilty of the check incident, later explained that he had been in a tight financial circumstances because his earnings went toward paying off business debts. The court declared that Spencer's attitude in the present case, as well as his previous record, did not justify probation.

Spencer appeared in court today with his attorney, E. J. Marks, who presented his plea for probation. Spencer told the court that he was an overseas war veteran and had been wounded at St. Mihiel. He had been married, but his wife had secured a divorce, he said.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan was today preparing to send a deputy to San Quentin with Spencer as soon as arrangements could be made.

CORNER STONE LAID FOR NEW S. F. CHURCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—In the presence of large throngs and attended by many high church dignitaries, Most Rev. Archbishop Edward J. Hanna laid the corner stone of the new church at Steiner and Bush streets that will replace the old St. Dominic's church at the same site, destroyed by the 1906 fire. The corner stone laying formed a part of the golden jubilee of the Dominican Fathers of San Francisco.

Blessing of the altar site, the corner stone and the procession about the foundation walls was witnessed by the crowd with bared heads.

Dominican Fathers Aid
Assisting Archbishop Hanna, in the ceremonies were the Dominican fathers, Right Rev. Monsignor M. D. Connolly, the Rev. Joseph Sasia, S. J., and the Rev. D. O. Crowley, all of whom also took part in the dedication of old St. Dominic's church in 1887.

The exercises were preceded by a procession from the temporary church on Pierce street. The fourth degree Knights of Columbus acted as a guard of honor to the archbishop, and California council of the Knights of Columbus, other Catholic organizations and hundreds of parishioners attended.

Names in Stone
The stone, laid with a silver trowel, has within it the names of approximately three thousand subscribers to the $40,000 fund raised to pay for the foundation work of the church, names of subscribers to the church nucleus fund, San Francisco daily newspapers, new coins, publications of the Dominican fathers and historical data.

Attending the exercises, in addition to the Catholic clergy and parishioners, were many invited guests, including Congressman Julius Kahn and city officials. Seats were provided for a large number and hundreds who could not be seated remained standing through the long ceremonies. Mementoes, with a view of the beautiful $500,000 Gothic structure as it will appear when completed, were distributed. A large offering for the church fund was collected.

Prior to the corner stone laying solemn high mass was conducted at the temporary church on Pierce street between Bush and Pine streets.

WORKS OF NOTED ARTISTS AT FAIR

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 14.—W. F. Jackson, one of California's noted artists and curator of the Crocker art gallery of this city, has consented to superintend the art gallery at the California state fair, September 1-9, it was learned today.

He has been promised paintings from some of the best artists in the United States. In California, Babjohn Marcom of San Francisco, J. F. Kanst of Los Angeles and Miss Josephine Blanche of Del Monte are collecting pictures in their respective districts.

Mary Curtis Richardson, who is one of the finest artists of the present day, is among those who have already signified their intentions of showing their work here. The art gallery is to have several improvements this year, chiefly among which is a very much better lighting arrangement.

Japan is a country with few wild animals and no poisonous reptiles. The largest lake of which Japan can boast is only thirty-six miles long.

Midnight Club In Gay Evening Session at Wylie Home

With Miss Isabel Wylie and Miss Hazel Hamilton joining forces as hostesses, a delightful evening resulted for the members of the Midnight club, gathering last night at the Wylie home on Santiago street.

According to club regulations, five hundred offered the evening's diversion and attractive prizes awarded were made Miss Marian Baird, high and Miss Ruth Cope, low.

At the club's "mystic hour" the card tables were arranged with dainty linens in pastel tints and centered with flowers in readiness for the appetizing little midnight supper whose two-courses offered chicken patties and macaroni pudding as their main delicacies.

Enjoying the evening were the two hostesses, Miss Wylie and Miss Hamilton and the Misses Iris Head, Aleene Shipp, Marian Baird, Anna Grace McElree, Ruth Cope, Louise Campbell, Kathleen Trago, Glenna Jean Hill, Katherine Buxton and Mrs. Robert Jeffrey.

Efficiency Club Plans For Social Evening

It is with a marked impatience that members of the Orange county Efficiency club of the Southern Counties Gas company, await the coming of next Wednesday night when they will enjoy their first social affair in the spacious new quarters of the recently completed building on Second and Sycamore streets.

Through the generosity of the Gas company president, F. R. Bain, the new office building boasts a handsome club room with all modern conveniences, including an excellent hardwood floor especially suitable for dancing.

A well-equipped kitchen will make possible the preparation of the dinner which club members and their families will enjoy at 6:30 p. m. and which will be prepared under the direction of V. L. Hinkle. All members have been asked to notify Mr. Hinkle not later than Monday, of the exact number to be in their party.

The hour following the dinner until 8 o'clock will be spent in inspecting the new building under the personal direction of J. C. Hayden, district superintendent. At 9 o'clock the program will open with an address by S. W. Todd, founder of the Efficiency club. The Fullerton Dramatic Ad club will offer a musical number and L. A. West will speak on "How Can a Public Service Corporation Best Serve the Public?"

The evening is expected to be a forerunner of many happy events to come in the new social quarters of which the club is so proud.

Mrs. O. S. Catland Entertains S. S. Class

Over half a hundred of the seventy-five members of Mrs. O. S. Catland's Bible class of the Baptist church were delightfully entertained by their teacher at her home, 419 Wellington avenue, Thursday.

The affair was planned as a garden party but the showers made it necessary to seek the shelter of the home although spirits were not dampened in the least.

The luncheon was a picnic affair and was followed by an afternoon of pleasant sociability when old songs were sung, new members greeted and farewells expressed for a few who were soon to leave the class and the city.

At an informal business session fifty dollars were subscribed to the church fund for Japanese relief work.

China Spreads Influence In Color and Design Apparent In Many of the Smartest Fall Styles

COPYRIGHT BY M.C. CALLS

Reconsigned to his tomb so far as followers of fashion are concerned, King Tut-ankh-amen may rest in peace and survey the style parade in which Cathay reigns instead of Egypt.

For supplanting the vogue for Egyptian, Persian and Paisley designs come embroideries, colors and even styles themselves, direct from China. Blue and green in deep tints of the orient are shown in the early fall dresses. Printed fabrics show Chinese designs and the colorful fantastic Chinese embroideries are everywhere in high favor.

There are even suggestions of the lines of Chinese garments in the high necked jackets and dresses with standing collars.

Of course costume accessories too show the influence of the east in the fashionable jade and carved ivory jewelry and Chinese-embroidered bags.

Local Singer Honored By Sorority Sisters At Smart Luncheon

The Pasadena Golf club was the scene of a colorful little luncheon yesterday when Mrs. Genevieve White of Oak Knoll, Pasadena, honored Mrs. Edward Hummel (Hazel Landers Hummel) of this city.

A dozen guests were seated around a flower-laden table arranged in the patio of the clubhouse. Dainty place cards harmonized with the pastel tints of the decorative flowers. The guest list was from the membership of the Chi Tau Sigma fraternity and all present had gone through school together, beginning with the freshman year at Los Angeles Polytechnic High school, with the exception of Mrs. Elmer J. Thompson.

Others from out-of-town included Mrs. Frank Elden of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Vera Timbs of El Centro and Mrs. Mary Hamaker of Houston, Texas. The remaining guests were from Los Angeles.

Following the enjoyment of the five course luncheon, Mrs. Hummel appeared in a song recital before the members of the Alta Dena Musical society, presenting an hour's program in the music room of the club.

The occasion marked her third consecutive year for appearing before the club which was enthusiastic in its appreciation of her latest program and also of the charm of her piano accompaniments as rendered by Ethel Troxell Thompson, one of Santa Ana's best known artists.

The extremely diversified program included "Macushia," "Voices of the Rain," "Carmena," "The Happy Song," "Twickenham Ferry," an old English ballad; "Oh Little Mother of Mine," "The Call of Dadah," "I've Been Roaming," "Pale Moon" and "Swiss Echo Song."

Calumpit Auxiliary

With members of the little social club of the Calumpit auxiliary gathering recently for an all-day meeting with Mrs. Beulah Botkin, 615 East First street, a pleasant and profitable day yielded quantities of sewed rags ready for weaving into rugs for the Christmas bazaar.

Cup towels were embroidered and hemmed also and arrangements made for holding the bazaar the first week in November. It was requested that all those who hold tickets on the famous Calumpit silk quilt should report to Mrs. Nannie Reed or Mrs. Bertha Dixon at once, as the drawing will be held at G. A. R. hall next Tuesday night, September 18.

Mrs. Emma Wassum, president of the social club, was welcomed after her summer's absence at Laguna Beach and presided over the session, which adjourned to meet Thursday, September 20, with Mrs. Bertha Dixon, 1253 West Fourth street.

This will be Mrs. Dixon's final meeting for some time as she and Mr. Dixon will leave soon for Cedar Pines, where they are building a cabin and where they hope the change will prove highly beneficial to Mrs. Dixon's health.

Members enjoying Mrs. Botkin's hospitality included Mesdames Anna Jones, Hannah Bentz, Mary Cooper, Bertha Dugdale, Nannie Reed, Estelle Dresser, Nellie Kennedy, Bertha Dixon, Cora Field, Edith Rowe, Neeta Allen, May Glaze, Emma Wassum.

Invited guests present were Mesdames Lottie B. Griffith, Velma Sullivan, Lou Robinson, Z. B. West Jr., Mamie McDonnell and Miss Stella Groff.

Daughters of Veterans

A pleasant social affair for past presidents of the Sarah A. Rounds Tent, Daughters of Veterans, was that of yesterday when Mrs. Cood Adams was hostess at a charmingly appointed luncheon at her home, 312 South Sycamore street.

The table glowed in soft rose color from the dainty cards adorned with wee rosebuds which marked places for the guests to the nut cups and minor appointments, all of which took their color cue from the mass of waxen begonia blossoms and roses centering the board.

The delectable course luncheon was followed by a happy afternoon when the guests chatted as they occupied themselves with bits of needlework in the rooms rendered doubly attractive by bowls of richly colored dahlias.

Many of the past presidents are yet absent from the city, not having returned from summer vacation trips. Those gathered yesterday included Mesdames May J. Thomas, Leonora Ward, Margaret Robertson, Louane Leich of Orange, Esther Gardner, Emma Chapman, the hostess, Mrs. Adams, and little Miss Nina June Robertson, mascot of the organization.

Men Make Plans For Masquerade Dance

Thursday, September 27 has been selected as the date for the big masquerade dance which men of St. Ann's parish are planning to present at Knights of Columbus hall.

A committee composed of L. Muckenthaler, B. J. Miller and J. Ogden Markel is busily perfecting plans for the event which promises to be one of the most delightful of the season in Catholic circles.

Graphic Letter Tells Of Chile's Grief at President's Death

Graphically describing the sorrow manifested in Chile upon the death of President Harding, Mrs. M. R. Moody of Santiago, Chile, writes her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Blee of this city, of the gloom into which the nation was plunged upon receipt of the news at midnight, the night of his death.

"The following morning," writes Mrs. Moody, "the Chilean president requested that the state go into mourning for eight days. Flags on all public buildings were at half-mast and all festivities called off including a grand naval ball and the horse races. This meant a big thing to such a pleasure-loving people as the Chileans are.

"On the day of the funeral, the American Union church in Santiago was also the scene of reverent services. The church was beautifully decorated with lilies of the valley, white fruit blossoms, yellow jonquills and a touch of green.

The services were simple, consisting mostly of passages from the Bible read by the minister, a short talk by him, a hymn and "Crossing The Bar," sung as a contralto solo.

The rector of the English Episcopal church assisted in the service and a number of English people were present.

The Chileans are proud of their friendship with North America and do everything in their power to show their esteem for our people.

They had hoped much from President Harding's influence in settling the trouble between their country and Peru over disputed territory, at the conference to be held this fall.

They are wondering if our new President will arbitrate in their favor.

Bride-elect Holds Low Score In Contest and Wins Surprise Gift
Adorned with great clusters of asters in all their varied and lovely tints, the Arthur Angle home at 601 West Walnut street offered a gay scene last night when Mrs. Angle and Miss Flora Heil welcomed the feminine members of the First National bank's clerical staff at a delightful party honoring Miss Geraldine O'Connor, a bride-elect.

Ostensibly gathered for a sewing party, the guests devoted their time to herring dainty tea towels for the bride-elect's future supply of household necessities. Later in the evening, wits were sharpened as all united in a clever guessing contest. Miss O'Connor, honor guest, proved to be the lowest in the final score, and therefore eligible for the consolation prize. When this was presented to her, it disclosed a multiplicity of packages in one large box, whose contents offered articles of cut crystal, china and exquisite linens showered on her by her assembled friends.

Late in the evening, Mrs. Angle and Miss Heil served a dainty supper the salad course being followed by ice cream roll whose delectable layers offered the same delicacy of tints as the asters used in decorating dainty wafers and coffee.

Enjoying the hospitality of the two hostesses and showering happy wishes on the honoree, Miss O'Connor, were her sister, Miss Madeline O'Connor, Mrs. Ralph Best, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. J. T. Whelden, and the Misses Mildred Cook, Opal Davis, Lena Thomas, Connie Woodside, Lella R'tner, Hattie Basler, Grace Was, Frances Potts, Mary Woodward, Katherine Smith, Bertha Michel, Laura Harding, Murrel Rash, Ora O'verson, Lida Covert, Edna Gammon, Veronica Merrick and Jessie Carter.

The betrothal of Miss O'Connor and Jack Bascom has been of keen interest to the friends of the young people who have watched the romance flourish in the First National bank where both are employed.

That interest is manifesting itself in a series of pre-nuptial overtures. The young people are not disclosing their future plans so the date of the wedding remains unknown even to their closest friends and associates.

Pleasant House-Party Draws to a Close

Bringing to a conclusion a pleasant house-party at the A. H. Paterson home, 523 East Chestnut street, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Haiden and Mrs. H. T. McCarter left Thursday morning for the return trip to their home in Oakland after having spent the past two weeks in this city.

During their visit, the party was further augmented by the arrival of Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Paterson, Miss Louise Kaiser, Miss Sara McGuire and Dr. Prussia of San Jose who remained for several days, motoring northward again last Tuesday.

Romance Is Disclosed When Skies Darken With Eclipse

Just as many hitherto unknown things were expected to come to light as a result of scientific investigations of the recent solar eclipse, so did a pretty little romance between a Santa Ana business man and a charming investigator in the field of scientific research become known when Miss Louise Ellerman of Pasadena admitted her engagement to C. L. Burnett, contracting engineer of this city.

Miss Ellerman who won her degree in philosophy and mathematics at Occidental college, had been selected as the one to record the time of the exposures of the corona and solar prominences at the Mount Wilson observatory at the time of the eclipse. Woman's patience, accuracy and attention to smallest details make their work superior to man where such difficult computations and mathematical work prove necessary, it was declared when Miss Ellerman was chosen for the place on the great camera stand at the observatory.

When questioned as to her plans for future scientific research Miss Ellerman admitted that all such research would be confined to the field of domestic science as she was announcing her betrothal and approaching marriage to Mr. Burnett. Announcement has not yet been made of the date of the wedding, but local friends of the prospective groom are eagerly waiting to greet the new Mrs. Burnett and welcome her to their circle.

Costa Mesa Concert

Many local people plan to attend the concert to be presented at Costa Mesa church tonight at 7:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Missionary society of that church.

Much of Santa Ana's best musical talent will appear on the program which will present vocal, whistling and piano solos, to say nothing of saxophone and xylophone numbers, a male quartet and orchestra selections.

The silver offering to be taken, together with the proceeds from the sale of ice cream and cake during a social hour after the concert, will be used to purchase new pews for the church.

The Thomas Tournats Enjoying Eastern Trip

Departing yesterday for the Atlantic coast by way of the southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tournat, 1809 North Bush street plan an absence of several weeks during which they will visit principal cities on their route.

Their first stop was to be at Son Antonio from whence they will go to New Orleans. A few days in Washington, D. C., and New York will be followed by a ten-day stay in Boston, their ultimate destination. They expect to be in Santa Ana again by the tenth of October.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Ned Corbett, his fiancée, Lenore, and Bess, a seamstress, are survivors of a shipwreck. They land on an island inhabited only by a man named Domsdorf and his Indian wife. Domsdorf shoots to death Captain Knutzen, another survivor.

The master of the island has named the island "Hell." He tells his prisoners that they must work and slave for him as he once had to do in a Russian prison.

Lenore is too weak to take up her burden immediately. Domsdorf sends Ned and Bess to chop wood. They are forced to work until they both fall unconscious, then Domsdorf carries them to his cabin. Bess is able to administer to Ned, who seems the weaker of the two.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY AND perhaps the administering of hands bailed in their work for one part of an instant. His wet, clinging clothes had been removed, and blankets, already warmed, were being wrapped about him. He fell into deep, restful sleep.

But it ended all too soon. A great hand shook him, snatching him into a sitting position, and a great, bearded face, unspeakably terrible in the weird, yellow light of the lantern, showed close to his own. "Up and out," he was shouting. "I'll be light enough to work by the time you have breakfast. Out before I boot you out."

Ned pulled on his clothes, scarcely wondering at the fact that they were hanging, miraculously dry, back of the stove; and immediately hurried to Lenore's side. He forgot his own aching muscles in distress for her; and his arms were about her, drawing her face to his own.

Domsdorf re-entered the room then, gazing at them in amused contempt and Ned instinctively straightened.

"I trust you're not hatching mutiny?" the sardonic voice came out.

"Not just now," Ned answered with some spirit. "There's not much use to hatch mutiny, things being as they are."

"You don't say! There's a rifle on the wall—"

"Always empty—"

"But the pistol I carry is always loaded. Why don't you try to take it away from me?" Then his voice changed, surly and rumbling again.

"But enough of that nonsense. You know what would happen to you if you tried anything."

"I've told you that already. There's work to do today. There's got to be another cabin—logs cut, built up, roof put on—a place for the three of you to bunk. That's the work today. The three of you ought to get a big piece of it done today."

"Miss Hardenworth? Is she well enough? Couldn't she help your wife with the housework today?"

"It will take all three of you to do the work I'll lay out. Lenore can do her stint with the others. And hereafter, when you address me, call me 'Sir.' A mere matter of employer's discipline."

Because he knew his master, Ned nodded in agreement. "Yes, sir," he returned simply. "One thing else: I can't be expected to do real work in this kind of weather. You've laid out furs and skins for the girls; I want to get something, too, that will keep me warm and dry."

"I'm not responsible for the clothes you brought with you. You should have had greater respect for the North. Besides, it gives me pleasure, I assure you, to see you dressed as you are. It tones up the whole party."

Stripped of his late conceit that might otherwise have concealed it from him Ned caught every vestige of the man's irony. "Do I get the warm clothes?" he demanded bluntly.

"When you earn them," was the answer. "In a few days more you'll be running out your traps, and everything you catch at first, you can keep. You've got to prove yourself smarter than the animals before you get the right to wear their skins."

THE previous day and night had been full of revelation for Ned; and as he started forth from the cabin with his axe, there occurred a little scene that tended even further to illustrate his changing viewpoint. Gloating with triumph at the younger man's subjection, Domsdorf called sarcastically from the cabin doorway. "I trust I can't help you in any way?" he asked.

Discerning the premeditated insult in his tone, Ned whirled to face him. Then for an instant he stood shivering with wrath.

"Yes," he answered. His promise to say "sir" was forgotten in his rage. "You can at least treat me with the respect deserved by a good workman."

Little, amused lines came about Domsdorf's fierce eyes. "A good workman, eh?" he echoed. "Yes, you did work fair enough yesterday. Wait just a minute."

He turned into his door, in a moment reappearing with a saw and several iron wedges from among his supplies of tools. He put them in Ned's hands, and the latter received them with a delight never experienced at any favor of fortune in the past.

As he worked, the stiffness and pain that yesterday's toil had left in his muscles seemed to pass away. The axe swung easily in his arms. When the first tree was chopped down, he set Lenore and Bess at trimming off the branches and sawing twelve-foot logs for the hut.

It came about that he chopped down several trees before the two girls had finished cutting and trimming the first. Seemingly Lenore had not yet recovered from the trying experience of two nights before, for she wholly failed to do any part of the work. What was done at this end of the labor Bess did alone. The unmistakable inference was that Ned would have to double his own speed in order to avoid the lash at night.

The day turned out to be not greatly different from the one preceding. Again Ned worked to absolute exhaustion; the only apparent change seemed to be that he accomplished a greater amount of work before he finally fell insensible in the snow. This was the twilight hour, and prone in the snow he lay like a warrior among his fallen. About him was a ring of trees chopped down and, with Bess' aid, trimmed of their limbs, notched and sawed into lengths, for the cabin. They had only to be lifted, one upon another, to form the cabin walls.

Bess had collapsed, too, as the twilight drew on; and Lenore alone was able to walk unaided to the shack. Again Ned lay insensibly on the floor beside the stove, but tonight, long past the supper hour, he was able to remove his own wet clothes and to devour some of the unsavory left-overs from the meal.

The third day was given to lifting the great logs, one upon another, for the walls of the cabin. It was, in reality, the hardest work he had yet done, as to shift each log into place took every ounce of lifting power the man had. The girls could help him but little here, for both of them together did not seem to be able to handle an end of the great logs. He found he had to lift each end in turn.

Yet he was able to drag to the cabin tonight, and torpid with fatigue, take his place at the crude supper table.

He didn't remember getting up from his chair, stripping off part of his wet clothes and falling among the blankets that Domsdorf had left for his use on the floor. Almost at once it was dawn again.

A new, more vivid consciousness was upon him when he awakened. The stabbing ache in his legs and arms was mostly worn off now; but there was a sharp pain in the small of his back that at first seemed absolutely unendurable. But it waned, too, as he went to the work of finishing the cabin, laying the roof and hanging the crude door.

It was with a certain vague quality of pleasure that he regarded this cabin he had built with his own hands, finished now, except for the chinking of the logs. It was the first creative work he had ever done and he looked at it and saw that it was good.

The cabin itself was roomy and snug; here he could find seclusion from Domsdorf and his importunate squaw.

Domsdorf gave him a rusted, discarded stove; and it was almost joy to see it standing in its place! With Domsdorf's permission he devoted a full day to procuring fuel for it.

Four days more the three of them worked at the task of laying in fuel—Ned doing the lion's share of the work, of course; Bess toiling to the limit of her fine young strength; Lenore making the merest pretense. The result of the latter's idleness was, of course, that her two companions had to divide her share of work between them. Every day Domsdorf allotted them certain duties—so many trees to cut up into stove wood, or some other, no less arduous duty; and he seemed to have an uncanny ability to drive them just short of actual, complete exhaustion.

They consumed great quantities of food—particularly Bess and Ned. What would have been a full day's rations in their own home, enough concentrated nutriment to put them in bed with indigestion, did not suffice for a single meal. Never before had Ned really known the love of food—red meat, the fair, good bread, rice grains white and fluffy—but it came upon him quickly enough now.

He hadn't forgotten that the first furs taken would be his, and he needed them sorely enough. Indeed, the matter was beginning to be of paramount importance to his health and life.

Besides the trapper's life offered more of interest than that of the woodchopper. It would carry him through those gray valleys and over rugged hills that now, when he had time to look about him, seemed to invite his exploration.

Best of all, the work would largely carry him away from Domsdorf's presence. If only he could spare Lenore, not only by permission of Domsdorf but by the consent of the girl herself.

The matter came up that night while Domsdorf was sorting out some of his smaller traps. "We'll light out tomorrow," he said. "The sooner we get these things set, the better. The water furs seem to be absolutely prime already—I'm sure the land furs must be, too. I've laid out three lines—sometimes I've trapped one, and sometimes another."

Police Foil Attempt To Fire Big Church

LONG BEACH, Sept. 14.—An effort to burn the Christian Science church on West Seventh street, San Pedro, is believed to have been frustrated by the San Pedro police.

The walls of the building were soaked with oil, oil saturated rags were found in halls and on stairways, the walls of the basement had been sprayed with oil, and a box of matches was found at the head of the stairs into the basement, according to Police Lieutenant J. F. Dunn of the San Pedro station.

That the firebug was frightened away before he could set flame to his rags and to the walls, is the belief of the police.

TELLS DYSPYPTICS WHAT TO EAT

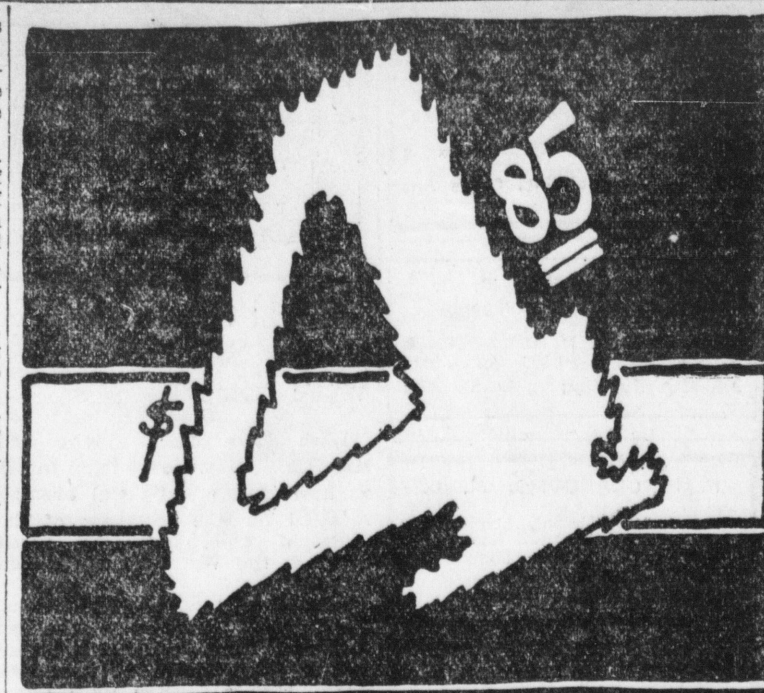

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and suffers should do either one of two things:

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acid which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of peppermint pills or artificial digestants.

Get Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your meals and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

JUDGE DECIDES L. A. COMEDY WAS NAUGHTY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—It cost Frank Egan, theater owner, just $50 to shock the puritan morality of Los Angeles by producing the popular farce "Getting Gertie's Garter" in this city.

Police Judge Pope, after hearing the alleged "immoral" lines in the play recited in court by "moral investigators" today handed down a decision fining Egan and all the actors and actresses in the play $50 apiece.

The decision will have the effect of shutting up the show, which ran six weeks before the public conscience was sufficiently shocked to demand action.

Egan and William Burrows, stage manager, were originally fined $500 or 100 days in jail by the judge, but the city prosecutor pointed out that a fine of this extent was not allowed under the city ordinance, so the judge contented himself with fining every body in sight $50 or 25 days in jail. Notice of appeal has been filed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 14.—With the mercury dropping below 50, overcasts were worn here today. Forecasts were for slightly warmer weather over the week end.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 14.—The first touch of winter came into the southeast today. On the heels of snow flurries in the northwest, Georgia and points in the south experienced sudden drops in temperature.

Communication With Stricken Town Cut

MEXICALI, (Lower California), Sept. 14.—Efforts to get into communication with the isolated fishing village of San Jose de Cabo, which was reported to have been partially destroyed over the week end by a severe storm and tidal wave, failed today.

Officials of the state government of Lower California were still without official reports of the disaster. Mexican gunboats in the vicinity have been asked to report on conditions along the coast.

Lodi Grape Juice Is Wanted to Make Wine

LODI, Sept. 14.—The Ferdinand Rossini company of Portland, N. Y., have representatives here now endeavoring to form a partnership with one of the local juice plants or, if that plan fails, to buy one of the plants for the purpose of manufacturing wine for sacramental purposes, together with a grape juice drink that is an unfermented product.

The Rossini company now operate a bonded warehouse in New York.

S. A. REALTORS CHOOSE 'HOME TALK' MAN

W. B. Martin, realtor, will be Santa Ana's representative in the "home talk" contest at the state convention of the California Real Estate association to be held at Sacramento October 10-13.

He was adjudged the winner of an elimination contest held at today's meeting of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors at Owens' cafe here. The judges were E. B. Burns, Harry Welch and C. L. Pritchard. Contesting with Martin were Harry Bladen, H. J. Selway and Stanley Goode.

In preparation for making the Santa Ana delegation prominent at the convention, committees were instructed to purchase balloons and other novelties that will attract attention.

Further consideration of the proposal that the Santa Ana delegation depart for the convention city from Balboa was dropped. It developed that too many of those who contemplated going were afraid of becoming sea sick on a boat trip from San Pedro to San Francisco.

Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange Harbor Chamber of Commerce, presented details of the cost of the trip by boat.

With Welch was a committee composed of J. J. Garrigues, W. A. Irwin, H. H. Williamson and George T. Peabody. The committee extended to the board an invitation to hold a meeting at the harbor city in the near future, with a boat-ride over the bay as part of the program. The board voted to hold such a meeting there Saturday noon of next week. The Friday meeting here of the board was passed over to the following day at the beach.

Five new members were voted into membership today.

125,000,000 POPULATION FORECAST

"Only ten years hence, in 1933, this will be a nation of 125,000,000 people," said H. E. Wahlberg, farm adviser, here today. "Ten years ago, in 1913, we had 96,000,000 people. Everyone interested in the progress of economic affairs should hang this fact up where it will not be lost sight of."

"It is not improbable that in ten years we shall have over 70,000,000 actual urban dwellers and fully 90,000,000 non-farming population. Which is a way of saying that one of the two greatest consuming markets in the world is located within the borders of this country."

"The steady increase in our population is an economic heaven working every hour of every day. Each time we tear a month from the calendar more than one hundred and sixteen thousand human beings have added themselves to America—the equivalent of a Nevada annexed every twenty days, year in and year out! Here is a generating force that can reshape the machinery of both production and distribution under the very eyes of the men who now guide that machinery."

"Production does not adjust itself exactly and steadily to demand. Such adjustment moves rather like the waves of the sea; it rises, a crest, a forward sweep, then a pause, or perhaps recession, followed by rise, crest, and so on. If the demand were constant and could be immediately satisfied, there would be no business cycle."

"Agriculture is now in the trough of the wave. Between its crest of 1919, and the next crest lie an unknown number of years. Perhaps ten, perhaps fifteen. But if any man questions whether the force exists that can drive it again into one of those long forward sweeps, let him consult the population statistics of the United States."

"One main reason why agriculture has not been enjoying a boom comparable to the urban industrial boom is because demand for foodstuffs is not cumulative. If the normal demand for new houses, automobiles, or railway equipment is not met in a given year it is keener than ever the next year. The country has lately been making up some of seven years' unsatisfied demand for the aforementioned basic equipment."

"The demand for textiles is cumulative. A family may go a year or two or more without buying much cloth, but eventually it comes into the market again and buys to replenish stocks as well as for immediate consumption. Textiles, in consequence, have shared in the boom of this spring. That has had a great deal to do with the relative strength of cotton and wool prices."

Napa City Budget Estimates O. K.'d

NAPA, Sept. 11.—Although the city budget estimates were many thousand dollars in excess of the money that will be available for next year, the City Council at its recent session finally got its figures within the limit that assured the low tax rate of $1.60 for at least another year. The paramount reason for the estimates exceeding the money that will be available to run the city, was the inclusion of a number of improvements of city properties and extensions of systems.

Increased costs of the maintenance of several departments were also responsible for the total estimate swelling far beyond the mark set down.

While Mayor Trower and Councilmen Shepard, Trubody, Butler and Blanchard found it imperative at the final summary to strike out much of their contemplated departments, still some greatly needed improvements and repairs are saved. It is estimated it will cost $161,631.25 to run the city next year.

NEW RHYTHM OF DANCE TO GET $500 PRIZE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A prize of $500 has been offered by the American Society of Teachers in Dancing, which recently closed its convention in New York, for the invention of a new rhythm in dancing.

A new rhythm, the teachers almost unanimously agreed, is the only means by which present dancing can be changed.

The convention was unanimous upon one point, that the various "new" dances introduced from time to time are new, except for a single step or two, in name only. A new dance requires a new rhythm, they said, and there has not been a new dance rhythm since the one step, even the all-powerful fox trot being only a variation of that dance. The waltz, one step and tango are the only dance rhythms which form the basis of modern dancing, and so great is the need of a new rhythm that the society announced a prize of $500 to any person who produces one.

Nearly every instructor at the convention seemed to have a new dance variation to introduce. Some of the names of these new dances are the Flapper Fox Trot, the Mah Jongg Fox Trot, with Chinese motif.

Another group at the convention contented itself with giving jazz its annual razzing, but when asked what they expected to do about it, no answer was forthcoming. Others maintained that jazz dancing, with its vulgar excesses, was the inevitable result of jazz music and that there is no hope of eliminating objectionable dancing until the music of the moment, with its sensuous syncopation, is first abolished.

Partly in jest and partly with the earnest desire to help check improper dancing in communities where the problem has become a matter for censorship or intervention by the police, the convention committee of the society invited members to compete for cash prizes for the invention of devices which would make dancing automatically dignified and censorship unnecessary. Many ideas were submitted. Plans were suggested for apparatus, which, if passed by the S. P. C. A. would undeniably keep heads upon their respective shoulders and a decorous distance between partners—but there were no working models. The contest is still going on, but censor-proof dancing is not.

Show Variety.

Popular dancing was not the sole concern of the convention. It delved into practically every branch of choreography. G. M. Caskey of Milwaukee exhibited the latest writhes in eccentric dancing. William Pitt "Rivers" of Brooklyn, credited with the introduction of the one-step about twelve years ago, took up deportment and etiquette and cotillion figures; Adolph Newberger, director of the dances in some of Broadway's most notable musical shows, gave away some of his secrets on training dancers for professional engagements, and R. W. Vizay showed how to teach dancing en masse; that is, how for forty years he has given dancing instruction to several hundred West Point cadets at the same time.

And then there was aesthetic, national and Greek interpretative dancing under the direction of Louis H. Chalif, president of the largest dancing school in America. Chalif, in fact, as chairman of the convention committee, was the mainspring of the week's activities. Whenever there was a question to be asked, a difference of opinion to be settled or an announcement to be made he seemed to be unofficially delegated to take charge of the matter. He put in a busy week.

Chalif's discourse on aesthetic dancing was one of the surprises of the convention and probably will become a classic in the annals of the society.

Dancing Puffblasts. After sketching the growth of aesthetic dancing in American schools and colleges in which he praised highly the pioneer efforts of Dr. Dudley S. Sargent, dean of physical culture at Harvard, of Dr. W. G. Anderson of Yale and Dr. G. Stanley Hall of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., Chalif launched an attack against persons who through ignorance regard aesthetic dancing as an effeminate accomplishment.

The football squad of Notre Dame University is taking up this "effeminate" form of dancing as a training stunt for the coming season, he said, and Miss Helen Willis, the new tennis champion, is going to specialize in it in college this winter in order to be at the top of her game in speed and endurance next season.

"And it is my opinion," said Chalif, "that that roughest and

URGE DORMITORIES FOR U. C. STUDENTS

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—"Dormitories would tend to lessen the present distinction between organization and non-organization students, rather than to accentuate it," declared Dean J. H. Hildebrand, in speaking of the present dormitory question which is occupying the minds of officials and students alike.

Definite arrangements for the building of dormitories on the University campus are being made, most elemental of all sports, boxing, would reach a higher plane of science and interest with the inclusion of aesthetic dancing as part of the boxer's training.

"I have not missed a big fight in the vicinity of New York for fifteen years and except once I have always picked the winner after the first round. I watched the fighter's legs, not their arms, and the man who was unconscious by the better performer in the elements of aesthetic dancing usually won the fight. The one exception was the Carpenter-Dempsey match in Jersey City. I picked Carpenter, for he was by far the better dancer of the two, but he made the mistake of trying to beat Dempsey at the latter's own style of fighting."

"Fantastic though the statement may sound, it does not seem to me too imaginative a prediction to say that some day our prisons, when constructive discipline replaces mere penal servitude, will include the elements of rhythmic culture in their programs of rehabilitation. Appreciation of the arts which display the finer instincts of man and the inherent goodness of humanity is a better deterrent to crime than fear of the law."

Parents See Daughter Drown as Car Capsizes

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 14.—While Mr. and Mrs. King Silva of West Sacramento stood helplessly by, their four-year-old daughter, Maria, was drowned beneath their automobile, which plunged into a ditch and capsized. The tragedy occurred three miles below West Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. Silva and their two children, Maria, four years old, and King, six years of age, were returning home when the automobile suddenly skidded and plunged into a ditch which was full of water. Silva succeeded in removing the boy from the wreck, but the little girl was pinned beneath the automobile and the combined efforts of the parents could not move the machine.

G. A. Warriner of West Sacramento was called and with his help the little girl was taken from the ditch and hurried to the emergency hospital here, but efforts to revive her failed.

New York Mystery Blaze Fatal to 4

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Two women and a child were burned to death in a fire which gutted a tenement house on the Lower East Side here this afternoon.

Firemen were searching in the ruins for probable additional dead. About fifty people were in the house when the fire started, spreading rapidly through the flimsy structure.

Patrolman Greenburg was the hero of the fire. He personally assisted nearly a score of women and children to safety.

All four of the dead were trapped in the same room. The origin of the blaze was not determined. Only the three upper floors were damaged.

Woman Writer Taken By Death, Aged 83

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Laura Catherine Redden Searing, at one time a well known writer for a periodical and daily press and author of several books, passed away in San Mateo, aged 83 years, after an illness of many years. Her death took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eliza S. McGinn, who formerly acted as head of the San Mateo police department. Mrs. Searing's pen name was "Howard Glyndon."

Mrs. Searing was born in Somerset, Md., in 1840. When she was a young girl, through illness, she lost both hearing and speech, but later regained the latter. At the age of 18 she did editorial work on religious papers, and during the Civil war she was correspondent at Washington for the Missouri Republican. She wrote "German War Gossip" for the New York Tribune during the Franco-Prussian war and was on the staff of the New York Mail until 1876, in which year she was married to Edward W. Searing, a prominent New York lawyer.

L. A. Girl Dies From Burns While On Trip

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Sept. 14.—Vivian Cozart, 13, who came here a few days ago from Los Angeles, was burned to death when her clothing caught fire while she was pouring kerosene into a stove. She was the daughter of Wylie Cozart, a blacksmith. The body will be shipped to Los Angeles. The house caught fire and was destroyed. A little pet dog crawled under her bed and died, too, of his burns. In trying to save the girl J. Trebstel, a miner, was severely hurt. Vivian came from Los Angeles last week to keep house for her father.

Mayor Locked Out of His Own Jail In Feud

SPOKANE, Sept. 14.—Mayor Pat Brown of the town of Hillyard, adjacent to Spokane, found himself locked out of his own jail today. A feud started months ago when the mayor named a new set of police officers which the council refused to approve. In the conflict of authority the old officers won the recognition of the courts. As the jail keys were then in the hands of the mayor's faction, the old officers had the jail doors burned off with acetylene torches and replaced the mayor's lock with another, to which they possess the only keys.

Lumber Company Files $1216 Judgment Claim

The Santa Ana Lumber company today had filed suit in the superior court here against W. H. Brooks and wife, seeking judgment for $1216.91 alleged to be due for materials furnished for the building of a house on Balboa island.

SUBSCRIBES TO FUND SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—

The Southern Pacific company has subscribed the sum of $25,000 toward the relief of the sufferers by earthquake in Japan. This is announced by Wm. Sproule, president Southern Pacific company. One-half of this sum will be disbursed by the New York office and the other half through the San Francisco office.

LEGION HERE IN ELECTION; AIMS SHOT AT DEBS

Edwin T. McFadden today was receiving congratulations from his friends on his election to commander of Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, at the annual meeting and election of the organization held at the Legion home, on Birch street, last night. September 27 he will succeed Franklin Grouard as the active head of the post.

Wilbur Getty was chosen as first vice-commander, and D. K. Scovel, second vice-commander. Dr. MacVicker Smith was elected chaplain, and Ralph Cole, sergeant at arms. The new executive committee is composed of D. K. Scovel, Franklin Grouard, Claude Sleeper, M. B. Wellington and Elmer Schaniel.

Annual reports of committees revealed that the post is an active organization and that the committees have been functioning. Dances of last year netted the post $2700, it was revealed in the annual report of Clyde Whitney, adjutant. Carnival commissions and shows yielded $3500 gross, according to the report. During the year $1800 was paid on obligations against the armory building and $1500 on the purchase price of a lot, at the rear of the building, from the Gilmaker estate.

Debs Opposed

Resolutions were passed supporting action of the Huntington Beach post in opposing a public address in that city by Eugene Debs and urging municipal authorities of the county to deny use of municipal buildings in the event that Debs attempted to secure them for public address. The post voted $10 to the Red Cross fund being raised for assisting refugees in Japan.

Stanley Reinhaus was appointed as a committee to make reservations for local Legionnaires who will attend the national convention of the American Legion, in San Francisco, next month. Men contemplating attendance at the annual gathering should make their reservations through Reinhaus, according to a statement made today by Adjutant Whitney.

Mr. Swing Greeted Congressman Phil Swing was given an enthusiastic greeting when he appeared at the armory. In an address, he touched briefly on the Boulder dam project, and spoke at some length on Legionnaire problems, as concerning action at Washington, D. C. According to Whitney, Swing has rendered valuable service to members of the local post, in giving personal attention to matters involving compensation for local men. Resolutions expressing the post's gratitude for such service were passed some time ago.

The congressman recited some of the difficulties in securing action in certain channels, involving matters pertaining to ex-service men.

The evening concluded with a program provided by professional entertainers from Los Angeles.

DRILLING COMPANY AT ORANGE READY

ORANGE, Sept. 14.—Fulfillment of the terms of their contract with the Orange Community Oil Association was made Thursday afternoon by the Gross Drilling company, who due to a stipulation, was compelled to be on the ground with their machinery before midnight Thursday or the contract was void.

New equipment was procured at Long Beach by the Gross company and has been removed to the site where the first test well will be drilled. The contract calls for drilling the well for $120,000.

ORANGE ROTARY MEETING
ORANGE, Sept. 14.—R. Kelso, representative of the Automobile Club of Southern California, and Congressman Phil Swing were the principal speakers at the meeting of the Rotary club Thursday.

Congressman Swing spoke on the Boulder dam project and Mr. Kelso spoke on recent changes of the automobile and traffic laws.

EXPORTS IN GAIN

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 12.—During the period from 1919 to 1922 lumber exports from the port of Vancouver increased from 30,000,000 to 500,000,000 feet, states W. G. Swan, chief engineer for the Vancouver harbor commission. In the period 1920 to 1922, in terms of crop years, grain export had increased from 500,000 bushels to almost 20,000,000 bushels. When the present pier construction is completed, the harbor will have berthing space for 32 deep sea ships.

TUSTIN MAN HURT CRANKING HIS CAR

TUSTIN, Sept. 14.—E. W. Crawford, mail carrier between Santa Ana and this city, injured his right leg last evening about 7:30 o'clock.

The accident occurred while he was cranking a car. It was thought that one of the bones in his foot might have been broken. He will be unable to be about for several days.

Assaults Woman, 65, Claim; Youth Jailed

Mark Janeway, 21, was renewing old acquaintances at the county jail today. He was sentenced to six months by Acting City Recorder Leopold Goepfer here late yesterday on a charge, of disturbing the peace. It was revealed at the hearing that Janeway had attempted an alleged assault on a woman, 65 years old, who has been conducting a rooming house on French street.

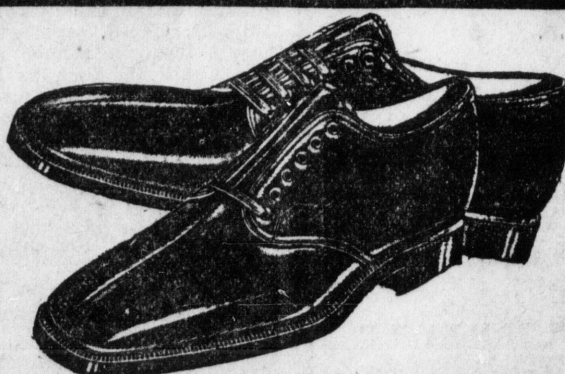

Janeway, according to the police, has a record. It was said he had just been released from jail. Court records showed he has answered to charges of stealing money from a roommate, and theft of a watch from a crippled girl.

Japan itself is about three times the size of New York state, and with all her colonies and dependencies is about one-fourth larger than France.

U. S. POSTAGE STAMPS WITH CAL. SCENES. PROPOSED

Senator Shortridge's Plan Calls For Enactment By Next Congress

SUCCESS IS IN DOUBT

Stamp Collectors Here In Active Interest, But Feel Move 'Too Good'

The scenic beauties of Southern and Northern California may be portrayed on federal postage stamps.

Instead of describing verbally the multitudinous wonders of a glimpse from Marcy Heights or the rocky shores at Laguna Beach, it may be possible for Orange county boosters merely to affix a stamp on a letter and say to some Eastern friend in a brief note: "That's what we have here."

Solons in Approval
Senator Samuel Shortridge, it was learned here today, intends, at the next session of congress, to introduce a measure calling for a special issue of stamps on which would appear various California scenes.

Shortridge's plan, it was pointed out, has the approval of Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Governor Richardson and a number of Southern California chamber of Commerce officials.

J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, is one of those who favor the proposal.

"It would be a great advertisement for California," Metzgar said, "and anything that will call attention to our state is a good thing."

Fingerprint School Children to Curb Crime, Urges Chief

Identification records of all school children should be made, in the opinion of City Marshal Claude Rogers. He made the statement here today while discussing juvenile crime.

"The records would not help only in the prevention of juvenile crime, but they also would prove a great protection for the children," the chief said.

"Fingerprints do not change with age except in one case in a million. Lost children, lost-memory cases, bodies mutilated beyond recognition, changes made in names, perhaps for criminal purposes, and many other reasons can be advanced for fingerprinting."

"In Santa Ana, records show that young boys have been responsible for many felonies, as well as the usual misdemeanors."

"Country-wide police records show that the most dangerous criminals nowadays are young fellows about 22 or 23 years old."

SKELETON NEAR S. A. LUNCHEON S. A. REVEALS CLUBS TO HAIL CONSTITUTION WARFARE

Deadly Force of Weapons of Indian Attested by Jagged Flint In Back

Somewhere in Southern California—not so very far from Santa Ana—a brave Indian chief, battling with his enemies, went plugging his death, with a white flint arrowhead buried in his back. That was in the long, long ago—maybe 500 years, according to an opinion expressed here today by W. T. Fraser of Santa Ana, hunter and trapper, who is the proud possessor of the red gentleman's backbone.

But whether it was 500 years ago, or merely 100 years, the fact remains that the bow and arrow, as a means of destruction, were mighty potent factors in the frenzied warfare of the hour, according to Fraser.

"All this came back to my mind when I read an article in The Register, telling how Dr. Saxton T. Pope of the University of California makes a success of hunting big game with the bow and arrow," said Fraser, exhibiting a number of Indian relics in this city.

"After reading that Dr. Pope hunts big game, including deer and bear, with the bow and arrow, I felt moved to write him and tell him of this very interesting proof of the deadliness of the Indian's weapon."

"Some folks doubt it, but I have the proof to show what has been done with the bow and arrow, right here in California—yes, Southern California."

"I have in my possession, the lower joint of an Indian's backbone, with a white flint arrowhead shot into it 1 1/2 inches deep—and he was shot through the stomach, too. That means the arrow had to pass through the body before it embedded itself in the lower back."

LIBRARY BOARD MAN, SMART. BOOSTER FOR CIVIC UNIT PLAN HERE

Favor Given Move to Put Principal Public Buildings On Main Streets

SAYS SITE NOW SMALL

Delay In New Structure Plans Urged In Effort To Settle Matter

The plan advanced by the City Planning commission that a civic center be established on the site of the present junior high school on North Main street, was given hearty support today by J. S. Smart of this city, wholesale grocer and member of the Santa Ana board of library trustees.

In an interview, Smart said: "Referring to the suggestion that the Junior high school site on North Main street, at some future date be devoted to a civic center where certain of the public buildings could be grouped, I quite agree with Dr. C. D. Ball that the plan is a good one."

"Unfortunately, not much attention has been paid until recently to the location of public buildings in Santa Ana."

Co-operation Urged
"I think all will agree that nothing has added so much to the attractiveness of the city as the building of the handsome structures by the Board of Education on the principal thoroughfares recently."

"If these buildings had been located upon less prominent streets, as was the case with the Polytechnic high school and the Y. M. C. A. building, it would have been detrimental to the future of the city to a considerable degree."

"For this reason I am heartily in favor of co-operating with the City Planning commission in an endeavor to locate the public library building on a more prominent site, and in connection with other public buildings. The present site is too small for any enlarged structure."

"There is positively no room, either north or south of the present library building, and to come further east would make it impossible to make a plant worthy of future Santa Ana."

"Moreover, it is proposed to widen Fifth street, which would still further reduce the size of the site."

Cites Relief Means
"Sycamore street is not and never will be a prominent thoroughfare. The location of Main street, on one side, and Broadway, on the other, settles that."

"I am aware of the fact that the library quarters are crowded, but the board has recently established, in co-operation with the Board of Education, branch libraries, in the Franklin and John Muir school buildings, and will establish a third in the new junior high school on South Main street."

"These may relieve the pressure in the central library somewhat, but even though more room should be immediately needed, surely some additional space can be rented in adjacent buildings that will take care of the necessities of the case until a permanent and satisfactory plan can be adopted that will not only give the required space, but that will add greatly to the beauty and attractiveness of the city."

"Nothing really worth while can be accomplished if the various city boards will not co-operate with the City Planning commission even to the extent of suffering some temporary inconvenience if necessary."

"I sincerely hope that the suggestion offered by the commission, or one equally meritorious, finally will be adopted."

VALENCIA SHOW OF ANAHEIM IN N. Y. URGED

Take the Anaheim Valencia Orange show to Madison Square garden in New York. Move it bodily from the Golden West to the metropolis of the United States!

Visionary?
Perhaps—but visions sometimes come true—and this one is fathered by no less an authority than Charles Ringling, one of the most progressive showmen in America.

John and Charles Ringling, heads of the great Ringling circus now showing in Los Angeles, are planning to turn over Madison Square garden for a period of one week, February 16 to 24, 1924, to the South Florida fair, which it is proposed to move from Tampa to New York. The Ringlings have extensive citrus holdings in the Southern state.

Advices Co-operation
"I am a great believer in the Golden West," said Charles Ringling, discussing the plan in Los Angeles, and I hope some progressive Californians will lead and take the San Bernardino Navel Orange show and the Anaheim Valencia Orange show to New York.

"By letting the East know what the two states are doing our future program of co-operative marketing will be greatly helped. You know, as a circus man, I am a great believer in advance work, and if I can do anything to help California to stage one of its shows in the East I will be pleased to give any suggestions and moral support to the movement."

Charles Ringling is a great believer in a closer co-operation between the two great citrus-growing states, California and Florida.

"I was much interested when I met the California citrus growers' party at the South Florida fair last February," he said yesterday, "and I had a long talk with Col. George C. Roeding, who was the chairman of that party."

Florida Shows Gain
"I believe that it is not long distant when the two states will be compelled to adopt some measure leading to a better method of marketing, and am gratified to note that steps along this line are under consideration by the leaders in the citrus industry in both the West and the South."

"California has shown the world what can be done in the matter of standardizing varieties, and Florida can learn an excellent lesson right here. They should cut out very many of the varieties they raise in the South and center on a few seasonal types of oranges and grapefruit that would give them a long marketing season and a fruit that is uniform in texture and size and quality."

"It will not be so far in the future when the annual production of citrus fruits in Florida will equal that of California. The last year's crop there was about 16,000,000 boxes and this will increase considerably in a few years, as many young groves are soon to come into bearing, and plantings have been going on most extensively during the last five or six years."

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT.

Nemesis and counselor; philosopher and fatalist; barber and savant. All these he is and more, is Judge John B. Cox, Orange county's relentless chaser of those who speed not wisely, but too well.

Judge Cox's record as the first man who had the courage of his convictions enough to punish speeding with an honest-to-goodness jail sentence has thrown Santa Ana into the white light of publicity, to a degree that few other things could equal.

Individualist, opportunist and philosopher are combined in his personality and he proves the second division of his nature by preaching the gospel of the first in the manner of the third.

Wants No Pattern.
"Why are so many people trying to ape the mannerisms and beliefs of someone else?" he questioned.

"When we try to pattern ourselves on the lines of someone else, we immediately lose our own identity and soon no one knows exactly what we are, underneath the surface. We don't even know ourselves. That's one thing I don't want to lose—my own individuality and identity." (He need have no fear, we remark parenthetically).

"When I first became judge here in the justice court there were plenty of people who thought that I would be swayed by their opinions. If a man had what he considered a little pull, he would try to work it to get me to let him off. I never allowed it to make any difference to me and I never will. A friendship that has to be bought and sold isn't worth having any way, and no one could ever buy me with the promise of a vote or two."

He chuckled, reminiscently, as he related how he lost a friendship, and presumably a vote, on one of his first cases where a friend of a traffic officer had to go to jail despite that friendship.

Jailed Sprechels Scion.
Again, one of his first cases, back in 1915, when he first began to jail people, was a member of the famous Sprechels family, which adds so much sweetness to the world. The youth was certain that his money and influence would suffice to save him from a jail sentence and his counsel pointed out to the judge the prominence of the family in San Diego—in fact in all California.

Sprechels But to be jailed? Impossible. But, in the bright lexicon of Judge Cox, was no such word as pull. The case was not appealed; the jail sentence was not rescinded, and the scion of the house of Sprechels was confined in the local bastille for ten days.

All sorts of funny experiences have befallen Judge Cox. Did you ever hear him tell the one about the couple who came seeking marriage? The knot was duly tied and the bridegroom asked what the customary fee was. When told that there was no set fee, but that each bridegroom paid what he felt it was worth, the h. b. g. produced a dollar which he slowly handed over. "And at that I felt like slipping it back to him for I thought it was too much," relates the judge.

Not Native Son.
Speaking of marriages, it was interesting to watch the business-like manner in which the ceremony is performed. There is no long after marriage to bore the seeker after matrimony. Just a plain concise statement of facts, the necessary questions and the final "I pronounce you man and wife." Often it ends thus: "My congratulations and best wishes, and remember, Mrs. Blank, you are the boss of the family."

Judge Cox is a Californian by choice, but an Ohioan by birth, for

FLOWER EXHIBIT ARRANGED FOR COUNTY FAIR

Realizing the possibilities of making the seventh annual Orange county fair, to be held in Santa Ana from September 25 to 29, inclusive, one of the most colorful events of the kind ever attempted in the Southland, Manager R. D. Flaherty today, announced that Mrs. D. Eymann Huff, assisted by Mrs. Earl Morrow and Mrs. J. E. Paul of Santa Ana, will have active charge of the amateur division of the department of floriculture, which will be a vital part of the great fall spectacle.

"In accepting the chairmanship of this important committee," said Mrs. Huff, "I wish to make it clear to the people of Orange county that we want each and every one of them to feel free to place their very best exhibits in this department."

"We have in Orange county some of the most beautiful flowers in the entire Southland. Our county has received very favorable mention from all sections of the state as a result of the initiative of our people in this respect."

Flowers Have Part
"Therefore, when the great fair opens on East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Tuesday, September 25, it is our earnest desire that flowerers—more particularly those in the amateur division—play a very conspicuous part in the colorful displays."

"In order to make this event the pronounced success it deserves, it will be necessary for all forward-looking residents, from La Habra, on the north, to San Juan Capistrano, on the south, to join with us in finding and showing the very finest flowers obtainable."

"For the information of all who expect to join us in bringing this department up to the highest possible standard, I wish to call attention to the prizes which will be offered. These include: Classifications Made: Best vase of twelve to twenty-five zinnias, ribbon; best vase of six to twelve roses, ribbons and $5 plant order; most curious flower, ribbon; largest flower, sunflower not included; best

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson

Prepared for The Register by Cal Ogburn

Lesson for Sept. 16, Luke 1:1-4; Acts 1:1; 16:9-15; Col. 4:14; 2 Tim. 4:11.

LUKE, THE BELOVED PHYSICIAN

"It seems good to me also, having traced the course of all things accurately from the first, to write unto thee,"—v. 3. Luke commends himself to us, in fact an exemplar, in many ways. Consider him as a writer, a biographer, a historian. "The gospel according to Luke" is a literary masterpiece. Its equal is not to be found in any language. Luke was an artist with words, using them to paint pictures that are pre-eminently charming. The writers of the ages have produced nothing approaching his account of the life and sayings of Jesus. The secret of this is not alone due to his being "inspired" to write. He was not the passive amanuensis of the Holy Spirit. Just as every writer should be, he was painstaking, accurate.

Had Luke inadvertently made but one false statement, that falsehood would have gone down the ages. And it would have cast discredit or suspicion on all he wrote that was true. So he introduced his epistle to Theophilus by saying that he had "traced the course of all things accurately from the first."

How it would beget confidence and stimulate interest, if this preface to every history, biography and the like contained this illuminating statement—and we could know it to be true! Careless writing is one of the curses of the day.

Are you, or do you aspire to be, a "writer"? Then be as careful as it is humanly possible to be that you do not make a misstatement in anything that you offer for publication. It takes time, labor and patience to ascertain the facts, but get them, at any cost. If you would establish and maintain the enviable record of a truth-teller.

Luke was a great writer for the reason also that he had great themes. He wrote two epistles to Theophilus. They are known to us as "Luke's Gospel," and "The Acts of Apostles."

The one mainly biological, telling about the sayings and doings of Jesus, and the other historical, giving an account of the establishment, in various places, of the Church of Christ. Any person, to be recognized as a great writer, must write about what is vastly important to mankind. But necessarily what men at the moment prefer to read, and so, for the nonce, render the author "popular," but what is vital to their present and future well-being. Whether fact or fiction, prose or poetry, this must be the dominating purpose of the writer, or the result will be a "production" as we name an "Essay on Vacuity." How much poorer the literature of the world would be, if Luke had not preserved for us in his inimitable way, the Parable of the Prodigal Son, and the Story of the Good Samaritan. It is not at all probable that Luke ever heard either of these from the lips of Jesus.

"Straightway we sought to go forth into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel unto them,"—v. 10. The supreme test of a Christian is his interest in the evangelization of the world. Measured by the support he gives to foreign missions, there is many a person who "can say the Lord's Prayer backward as well as forward," that is but little better than a pagan. He has no regard for the people who live in "Macedonia." He gives neither prayers nor pence for their salvation. Luke was not of this class. He had given up the practice of medicine, associated himself with Paul, and become an itinerant preacher of the gospel. Had he lived today, those who fail to support the cause of foreign missions would "pity" him for his folly. And yet "Luke" is of more value to the world than all of these. And as a reward for his "sacrifices" he gets out of life a joy they never have known. For only as men are unselfishly useful, and in proportion thereto, are they happy. This is so universal that it must be according to a decree of God.

"Luke, the beloved physician,"—Col. 4:14. Next to the faithful preacher of the gospel, the efficient, conscientious physician deserves to be called "beloved." And often, in some form, he has this appellation bestowed upon him. The man who, by his skill relieves pain and restores us and our loved ones to health deserves and has our highest esteem. At the same time we may fail to duly appreciate the service he so unselfishly and constantly renders to the poor, from whom he can hope for no other remuneration or reward than their gratitude, which, strange to say, they sometimes withhold.

They accept what he gives them as a mere matter of course. The time may come when philosopher or poet, the writer of fiction or fact, will properly eulogize the "beloved physician." Till that time comes, and after pay in coin and in commendation all that you owe him. And "the beloved physician" to whom you are indebted may not be an "M. D." at all, but some other.

"Only Luke is with me,"—2 Tim. 4:11. Nothing that is said about Luke so commends him as that short, sad sentence. Some from choice—as Demas, of whom Paul wrote, "Demas hath forsaken me"—and others from inability to help had left Paul the aged minister of the gospel to suffer the hardships of imprisonment. There was not one left to give sympathy or aid to the unfortunate man save Luke. "Only Luke is with me." He was not a "fair-weather" friend. At the risk of his own life, he remained with Paul till the end of his life.

HAROLD LLOYD COMEDY CLOSING TONIGHT

Ideas for comedies are rare. For the type of feature comedies that Harold Lloyd makes, they are "rarer than rare."

The happy thought that led to the making of the spectacular comedy's latest and longest feature, "Safety Last," now showing at the West End, came like a flash out of a sky.

One day, about a year ago, Lloyd and his producer, Hal Roach, were walking on a downtown street in Los Angeles. It so happened that at the Rosslyn hotel that day, "Bill" Strother, known the world over as the "human fly," was pitting his skill against the intricacies of the Rosslyn's granite walls.

Immediately the idea hit Harold that it might be a good plan to make a thrill picture, and to fill it with just such daring and hilarious situations as he made in "Never Weaken" and "High and Dizzy," outstanding successes in Lloyd's early achievements.

"THE FOURTH MUSKETEER" AT NEW PRINCESS

Johanne Walker has scored another noteworthy triumph in "The Fourth Musketeer," the current attraction at the New Princess. The story was written by that master of sport writers, H. C. Witwer. In the creation of "The Fourth Musketeer," Witwer has given Johnnie Walker a vehicle that fits his virile and lovable personality like a glove.

The story is rich in dramatic situations, with Walker's sparkling Irish humor given full opportunity to give the audience clean, healthy laughs.

The original story of "The Fourth Musketeer" proved to be very popular when it appeared recently in Cosmopolitan magazine.

"SALOMY JANE" IS NEW MELFORD TRIUMPH

George Melford has added another triumph to his already long list of successes in the production of "Salomy Jane," the picture featuring Jacqueline Logan, George Fawcett and Maurice Flynn, which closes its engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

Melford directed "Burning Sands," "Ebb Tide," "Java Head," "You Can't Fool Your Wife" and many others for Paramount. He is one of the leading directors in the picture industry.

HABRA MAID'S RETROTHAL GIVEN

LA HABRA, Sept. 14.—Much interest has been evinced in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Beatrice Proud, to Phillip Hart Goodell. Both are well known in the local society circle. Mr. Goodell is connected with a music company in Fullerton. The wedding will take place sometime in October.

The announcement was made recently when Miss Proud entertained a number of her schoolmates and intimate friends at the beautiful ranch home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Proud. Pink and white in an attractive decorative scheme were the colors used in flowers and place cards. At 4 o'clock a four-course luncheon was served by Mrs. Proud, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Leuhm, and her sister, Mrs. Chandler. Guests were Mrs. A. C. Catland of Santa Ana, Misses Ethel Lindstedt, Lucille Proud, Hattie Robertson, Susan Walker, Hazel Cook, Mary Louise Hickman, Frankie May Taylor, Mrs. L. L. Chandler and Mrs. Edgar Leuhm.

Mrs. Ullis Phillips entertained at a tamale supper at her home on South College avenue Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Garlen Reed of Fateville, Ark., who is visiting relatives in Los Angeles. The occasion also served as a joint birthday party in honor of Mrs. U. R. Phillips and her brother, James Balcome, whose natal day is September 12.

A pretty birthday cake adorned with pink candles was presented as a surprise to the two by their aunt, Mrs. G. A. Henbest. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Henbest and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Balcome and children, Joseph, Ruth, James and Roxana, and honored Mrs. Reed, and hostess, Mrs. Phillips, her husband and daughter, Rosalie.

Celebrating the natal anniversary of her daughter, Helen, Mrs. E. D. DeGray entertained a bevy of girls at her home Thursday afternoon. Blue and white were the prevailing notes in the decorations. Favors of blue flower candy baskets were at each place. Ice cream, with huge birthday cake ablaze with twelve candles, made an attractive centerpiece for the daintily appointed table.

A program was given during the afternoon in which Margarette Hart and Ruth Hough gave a Spanish dance. Reba Riley a gypsy dance. Those who enjoyed the affair were Winifred Sutton, Ola, Betty, Mary Hilda Kelton, Charlotte Hallock Lindauer, Helen Jackson, Muriel Olson, Reba Riley, Linnau Traw, Margarette Hart, Ruth Hough, Miss Anna Campbell, the honoree, Helen DeGray.

OUTSIDE HAZING AT UNIVERSITY DRAWS BAN

BERKELEY, Sept. 14.—A general order, coming from Police Captain Jack Greening of the Berkeley force, which is ultimately expected to stop all outdoor initiations by fraternities at the University of California, was issued following several complaints from Berkeley residents that considerable damage had been done and much sleep lost through the antics of fraternity pledges.

Greening, backed up by Acting Chief C. D. Lee, stated that the matter would be taken up with Dean W. M. Hart of the university, and an effort made to stop the practice.

To Arrest Students
The order, instructing officers to arrest all offenders on charges of disturbing the peace was the direct result of a complaint from Mrs. C. C. Newkirk, 2253 Glenn avenue, Berkeley, in the fashionable Northbrae residence district, in which she told the police a group of five men were prowling around her home at 4:30 o'clock in the morning.

Officer W. A. Wiltberger responded to the early morning call, and found the following conditions existing:

The entire neighborhood was aroused, hearing the frantic screams of a Japanese gardener, who fled, from a barn clad in his pajamas when he heard someone climbing on the roof of the building.

A group of five men were driving around in a taxicab acting in a suspicious manner.

Refuses To Talk
Officer Wiltberger arrived just in time to catch Aaron H. Powers, a student from Fresno, as he slid from the roof of the barn, landing in the hedge below. Powers re-

Livermore Plans Day for Sports

LIVERMORE, Sept. 14.—A general field day of sports, with emphasis on horseshoe throwing, has been suggested for the early fall in this city. Contestants would come from Dublin and all parts of Murray and Pleasanton townships, it is urged. The interest in horseshoe throwing has been built up through the numerous matches recently held between teams in this city and Dublin, and the suggestion came from the latter community that there should be a general field day in which this and other sports would be used to gather competing teams and individuals from all parts of the two townships. The event would be held at the conclusion of the harvest season and just before the first winter rains, it is said.

Under a will dating back to the sixteenth century the mayor of Nottingham receives sixpence if he goes to a certain church service. Gambling on rainfall is popular in India, where paid watchers keep a lookout for rainclouds and warn "speculators" to make their bets.

He refused to say a word to the officer, and would answer no questions.

Powers was brought to the police station, where he was searched and it was found he was being initiated into the Sigma Chi fraternity, with instructions to find a white cross on the roof of a building and not to speak to anyone under any circumstances.

The men in the taxicab were found to be members of the order who were watching the actions of Powers.

Powers was held not to be responsible for his actions and was released.

Reports of two men speeding through Richmond with two others in the back seat of a car bound and gagged were received here, and a chase ensued. The drivers of the car where held as bandit suspects until it was learned that the whole affair was a fraternity initiation.

County Bankers Told to Expect Prosperity for Next Ten Years

That economic pressure can be exerted, and actually has been exerted in the case of the Italy-Greece affair to prevent war, was pointed out in an address delivered last night before the Orange County Bankers' association, at Huntington Beach. The speaker was H. M. Robinson, president of the First National bank of Los Angeles and of the Pacific Southwest chain of banks.

"A nation," he said, "cannot wage war without certain materials. Italy could not wage war without reaching some agreement with some other nation whereby Italy could get iron.

"Were the United States joined with Europe it, through economic pressure, could prevent any war of consequence. As it was, without the United States, Europe prevented the Italian attack on Greece."

Reviewing the general business situation, Robinson said there is nothing to make the American particularly pessimistic, though he believed that there is a growing bitterness against the United States because of its disposition to keep to itself, a bitterness that, he believed, would be expressed in trade discrimination.

"The recent industrial revival tapered off, commencing about March," he added. "I see no likelihood of a sudden revival in prosperity such as wall street bankers have predicted, but I do see a period of substantial prosperity during the next ten or twelve years. What I have just said applies to the nation at large.

"The situation in Southern California is different. We have here an unusual condition. Oil alone has brought in from fifteen to twenty millions a month, and we can expect that amount to keep on coming to Southern California from oil alone for the next two or three years. During that period, at least, there seems to me to be no chance of any reduction in the pace of business in Southern California. And, when I say that, I mean regular business, not subdivision street."

The meeting of the bankers last evening was considered the liveliest of its quarterly meetings.

With H. A. Gallene leading, singing was indulged in with vigor and pleasure. The musical program brought applause and commendatory appreciation. This program included vocal solos by Mrs. Florence Van Dyke and Gallene, and piano solos by Miss O'Neill.

$895,004 to Be Requested For Orange County Schools, Shown

Orange county school funds for the year 1923-24 to be requested of the supervisors by R. P. Mitchell, county school superintendent, as follows: total today amount to $895,004.

Of this amount $522,281 was to be apportioned to elementary schools, $384,200 to high schools, and $14,523.18 to junior colleges in the county.

Special school taxes within the various school districts, which Mitchell explained were limited to 30 cents in the special fund, and 15 cents each in the building and kindergarten funds, were to be requested, according to tabulations of the superintendent, as follows:

THEFT OF AUTO TWICE LANDS BOYS IN JAIL

A small coupe, owned by Glenn W. Croft, troubleman of the Southern California Edison company here, has proved a two-time friend of the Santa Ana police department.

Twice, police records show, the coupe has been stolen and on each occasion with its recovery the police have captured a pair or more juveniles with doubtful records.

Croft was said to be considering having his car listed on the police payroll.

The last disappearance of the car occurred September 8. It was recovered at Corona yesterday, according to a report made to the police here today.

City Marshal Rogers said the car proved the missing link between a burglary committed at Corona and three boys recently arrested by the police here. The boys were captured at Oceanside Monday in a car

Harrisburg Physician Enters Practice Here

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Blair, who removed here from Harrisburg, Pa., last June, have just occupied a residence at 618 South Broadway, Santa Ana, that they purchased from Mrs. Bertha Calvin and that has recently been undergoing repairs and alterations.

Dr. Blair was a bureau chief of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health, neurologist on the staff of the Harrisburg hospital, and literary editor of The American Physician, published at Philadelphia. He will continue his connection with the medical journal and will enter practice here.

said to have been stolen from Santa Ana.

In addition to the two charges of automobile theft and a burglary at Corona, the boys, it was said, will face a charge of burglary here.

Two Santa Ana high school boys drove into the arms of the police here in Croft's car two months ago, it was said. The police asserted that the high school boys had stolen the car and used it in conducting a string of burglaries in Santa Ana that amounted to several thousand dollars in value of the loot.

SAFE IN HOME NETS NO LOOT; RUGS SOILED

Safe-crackers should be more considerate of carpets, in the opinion of Mrs. E. F. Wickersheim, 210 South Broadway, who surveyed the damage done today by a burglar who entered her home last evening.

Armed with a pick-axe and a sledge, according to police theory, the burglar broke out the bottom of the safe and left a heap of fractured plaster and damaged sheet iron as evidence of his call.

Nothing of value was stolen, according to Mrs. Wickersheim, as, she said, only papers of personal value were kept in the safe.

The burglar entered the Broadway home while Mr. and Mrs. Wickersheim were absent yesterday. Their children, it was said, had not returned from school.

Neighbors heard the commotion caused by the safe-cracker's heavy work, but said they thought it was Wickersheim doing some work about the house.

The presence of the safe in the house was explained by Mrs. Wickersheim, who said that when Mr. Wickersheim had retired from business he had brought the safe home.

"We had an implement, automobile and general business at Fifth and Broadway several years ago," Mrs. Wickersheim said. "The safe is the sole survivor of the store equipment. We do not keep money or valuables in it now."

AN IDEAL HOME

It is a fact not generally known that the Big Bear country is shown by Government reports to be an ideal place for raising the Silver Black Fox in captivity.

Before establishing his ranch at Big Bear Lake, California, Mr. Robert T. Moore, owner of Borestone Mt. Fox Ranch, Onawa, Maine, and a naturalist of note, investigated from every angle, the question of climate, soil conditions and other factors at Big Bear Lake, entering into the raising of these fur bearers in captivity.

COMPLETELY SATISFIED that his valuable prize winners would thrive in their new environment, he then decided to establish his Big Bear Ranch, which represents a large investment.

Call at our office for beautifully illustrated booklet on Silver Fox Husbandry and see the furs on display, as well as our prizes and cups.

LA HABRA SCHOOL NEARS COMPLETION

LA HABRA, Sept. 14.—The Lincoln grammar school on Walnut street is nearing completion. It is expected to be ready for use by November 1.

Mrs. S. J. Walker, who has been assisting Dr. J. W. Camp, left Monday to join her husband at Stanford university. Miss Margarette Bryan of Brea will assist in the office.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Balcome were guests of Mrs. Margarette Grace in Los Angeles Tuesday.

Myrtle Warren and Mrs. L. Partidge have returned from a week's ride at Redondo Beach.

Mable Young visited Mr. and Mrs. H. Jennings of Taft at the home of Mr. Jennings' brother, Elmer Jennings and his wife at their home in Whittier over Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Scofield returned from a week-end visit with friends in San Diego.

Mrs. Gerland Reed of Fiteville, Ark., visited her cousins, the J. L. Balcome family, Tuesday. It was a surprise to the Balcomes as they did not know that Mrs. Reed was in California.

Mrs. Burgeson is spending a few days at the bedside of her brother, who was operated on for cancer the first of the week at the Loma Linda hospital.

Paul Foster of First street, left yesterday to spend the week-end with his uncle at Calexico. The time will be spent in fishing and hunting.

Mrs. Dayton is spending the week-end with her sister, Mrs. J. L. Dilley, of Huntington Beach.

Miss Esther Stubbs was a week-end visitor at the home of Misses Frances and Nellie Sheppard of Yorba Linda.

Edging Leuthm and family are spending a few days at Santa Catalina Island.

Violet Dayton is spending the week-end with her sister, Mrs. N. Greene, at her home in Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Arbuckle, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Smith were San Diego visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn are enjoying a visit with relatives in Lansing, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. MacLush of La Habra Heights left Monday for a few days' visit at San Barbara, where they saw the eclipse.

Mrs. James Hunt of Santa Ana is visiting for a few days with Mrs. Joy McFadden of Second street.

Mrs. C. G. Prindle and children are spending a few days' outing at Beaumont.

Charles Wright left Saturday to attend the state agricultural school at Davis.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR RECENT BRIDE

TUSTIN, Sept. 14.—Mrs. J. L. Crane of this city was honored by a party at the home of her Sunday school teacher, Harry L. Hanson of Santa Ana, Wednesday night.

Mrs. Crane, who was formerly Miss Addie Trickey, was married in secret some time ago, and last night was the first opportunity her classmates, teacher and other friends and classes of the church had to entertain her.

The evening was spent at games, with a radio concert enlivening the atmosphere. Mrs. Benjamin Marks sang several songs.

Mrs. Crane was presented with a beautiful art glass flower bowl, by the members of the three classes present.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Harry Hanson, at a late hour.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Marks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fishal, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Hunt, John Page, Clara Hanson, June Forney, Dorothy Weiss, Ida Spicer, Marian Snider, Rev. William Snider, Virginia Forney, Hazel Elton, Lewis Hanson, Grace Squires, Charles Crawford, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Hanson.

DRAINAGE PLAN AT NEWHOPE OUTLINED

POLSA, Sept. 14.—With proper drainage of 3000 to 4000 acres included in the recently created Newhope drainage district in the $160,000 bond election scheduled for next Monday, residents in the district near here and others vitally interested in the project today outlined their views concerning the proposal.

Farm Advisor Urges Bonds
According to Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, who has made a close study of conditions, this improvement is absolutely necessary if the landowners and other residents are to win the reward they deserve as a result of their labors in this district.

Others who endorsed the project included C. A. Westgate, realtor and rancher; H. H. Lewis, rancher; E. R. Stillens, rancher; W. W. Weir, engineer, and a number of others, outside the district, who have observed conditions following reclamation work of this kind.

Among those who opposed the bond issue was Lucien A. Sweet, Santa Ana resident.

"The Newhope drainage system, as proposed, represents the final word in reclamation," said Farm Advisor Wahlberg.

Rancher Gives Support
"I am in favor of the project because it will provide a good road to the ranchers and landowners in that district," said C. A. Westgate. "It is something we have long felt the need of, and I feel that any man who votes against it is voting against his own well being."

"I am in favor of any proposal that will reclaim and enhance the values of land in that district," said H. H. Lewis. "To my mind, the drainage system will do this. Therefore, it deserves our support."

"I am not only in favor of the drainage system, but I have been a strong booster for the bond issue," said E. R. Stillens. "Unless we have something of this kind, land in this district will be waterlogged and worth virtually nothing."

"Orange county is the premier county in California in the construction of drainage districts," said Farm Advisor Wahlberg, of Santa Ana today. "The first district was organized fifty years ago. Since then, ten districts have been organized, resulting in the improvement and reclamation of lands that have since returned millions of dollars to the county."

The newest district to be organized is the Newhope district, lying just west of the Santa Ana river, embracing 3568 acres. The majority of property owners in this section have seen the urgent need for lowering the water table to insure production in their lands and expressed themselves through a favorable ballot at the last election.

The directors of the newly organized district have secured the best drainage engineers on the coast to analyze the soil strata, take borings and devise a system to overcome the existing problems. "The final plans adopted by the board involve 116,326 feet of pipe, and costing $160,000, or $44.55 per acre—this cost, of course, being spread over a number of years. Thus it will hardly be felt by the property owners. It will insure, on the other hand, a more permanent basis of production and make possible a return that is now impossible under existing high water table conditions."

"The proposed system, to be voted upon Monday, embraces the last word in drainage science—deep drainage and a close system. No open ditches will mar the landscape, nor jeopardize human life. All lines will be tiled."

"Past history and experience has demonstrated that the installation of proper drainage has increased the productive power of the land from 200 to 500 per cent."

"The Newhope district will make the greatest strides in its history if it adopts drainage next Monday. If it fails this time, many acres of rice crops are doomed, and hundreds of other acres will continue to produce insufficiently."

Lucien A. Sweet, in opposing the project, said in part: "I have been making an investigation of the tile system in several districts that have made their main ditches open. I find in many places where tile has been laid that the alkali land has become so run together and compact that it has virtually turned to hard pan and water will not percolate through it. Little or no benefit has been derived from its use."

"One piece I noticed in particular was at the southeast corner of the road as you turn to Huntington Beach, west of Bolsa."

"One man stated to me that he had some alkali land that was porous enough to admit of the passage of water through it and through this piece of land he put a string of tile."

"Before the tile was laid the land, he said, would raise nothing, but in a few years he could raise good beans over the tile and on each side of it 12 or 15 feet, but no farther."

"This should prove to any logical person that to get the proper underdrainage in land that is susceptible of drainage your lateral tile should not be farther apart than 40 feet, if they are 4 feet underground."

"Now what will it cost to underdrain an acre of alkali land properly?"

"An acre of land is 10 rods one way, or 165 feet and 16 rods the other way, or 264 feet the long way. It will make no difference as far as cost is concerned whether you run the short or long way. For an illustration, we will run the laterals the long way, putting them 40 feet apart. We would need across this acre six strings of tile of 165 feet, or 990 feet of lateral

Santa Ana Man Who Lost Rings Secures Them from Officer

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 14.—Roy Ballard, motorcycle officer of the local police department, has additional evidence today that it's a small world.

When Ballard, together with his mother and father, were motoring in the central part of the state the officer saw a pocketbook by the side of the road. The purse was found empty but beside it were four rings, a diamond, sapphire, ruby and opal, altogether worth about $200. The find was made near King City, not far from Paso Robles.

Ballard advertised in the papers of that vicinity but could not learn the name of the owner.

Thursday evening in The Register a news story setting forth Ballard's find was printed. Shortly before 9 o'clock, P. J. Carmack of Santa Ana, an employee of the Southern California Edison company, called Ballard and described the rings. They will be returned to the Edison man today.

Several of the men who are boosting for the bonds claim that a single big tile ditch 7 or 8 feet underground will drain the water and alkali on both sides of it several hundred feet. This, in my opinion is not possible. It surely would drain on the upper or higher side much farther than on the lower side where the land slopes from the ditch. Water doesn't run up hill. The only way to get a successful system and drain the land properly and rid it of alkali is to put in the laterals, as I have stated, not farther than 40 feet at a 4-foot depth. This will only take the alkali out of the land that is porous enough to admit of the passage of rain or irrigation water.

"Now who is going to pay for these bonds? The taxable farms and homes in the district."

"Both the principal and interest on the bonds and the upkeep of this system is to be paid for by land and home owners in a direct tax assessed on all the land and homes of the district, regardless of whether such property owners are benefited by such drainage system."

"This looks to me like an act of injustice. A young man has bought a little home with a lot or a half acre in this district. He is absolutely not benefited to the value of one cent, and still he may be assessed for and pay a tax as high as a man that has a worthless piece of alkali land and will have to pay as much or more for the drainage system than the man with the alkali land who gets the benefit."

"Mr. Silas Wright told me that he has 40 acres of tiled land where the tile has filled with sand and sediment and is a complete failure and a dead loss to him."

"Mr. Cary tells me he had to take up and re-lay his laterals that he partially filled the ditch with straw to keep from clogging up."

"When I bought my land, especially the lot 20 that I bought next to the river on First street, I dug holes all over the land to see how far it was down to water and I also tried it with litmus paper for alkali. I was a little afraid of the water level and alkali raising, but I found alkali in only one very small spot, and the water deep enough. I was reasonably sure it would never need any drainage."

"Now I want to say to the voters of the Newhope Drainage District that I am no amateur in the game of underdrainage, having all but 40 acres of my two farms in Minnesota underdrained and it all works perfectly."

"I worked seven years with Superintendent A. D. Wilson in Agricultural Extension work, as a lecturer on the Farmers' Institute platform, in Minnesota, and we never advocated the doing of anything that we had not tried out, and which had proven a success."

"We were always ready and willing to show our tile drainage system and show how it worked to any farmers that wished to come and see it. One of my subjects on the Institute platform was tile drainage."

"I stand for it; it is the proper thing to tile drain land that needs it, but let us not experiment on this underground main tile, until it has been more thoroughly demonstrated that it will work."

"We were instructed by the superintendent always to discourage a drainage proposition unless there was a good free outlet at the lower end, with a drop-off, the greater the better."

"Now, if we are going to put in a drainage system, let us find a good clear, open outlet, with a little drop-off at least, that means let us have some regard for the fellow's rights and assess everybody, according to their benefits, and then we can all boost for the ditch."

"Yours for a practical, tried drainage system."

S. P. EMPLOYEES TO PICNIC AT HARBOR CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 14.—Three special trains, carrying 3000 shermen and their wives, will come here tomorrow for the annual picnic of the employees of the Southern Pacific system, it was learned today.

It is the second visit of the Southern Pacific workmen and their wives to Orange county harbor in ten years. The crowd will frolic on the beach between Newport and Balboa. It is expected the picnicers will bring their own band.

Concession men are expecting a good business.

LAGUNA STUDENTS ATTEND AT TUSTIN

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 14.—Twenty-one pupils from Laguna Beach are attending the Tustin Union high school this year, about three times as many as last winter.

A bus has been supplied to take the students back and forth.

There are four pupils who reside in Laguna Canyon and are picked up by the stage on the way up, besides those from Laguna village.

Antonio Apache, dealer in Indian rugs and himself an Indian chief, has been in Laguna for a day or so.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cottle returned to Los Angeles Tuesday after four days in Laguna. Mrs. Cottle is the just retired Regent of the Los Angeles D. A. R.

Mrs. R. W. Purpus has been in Los Angeles for several days. The Misses Stella and Louise Noble, Miss Clara Smith of Altadena and Miss Woodcolum of Los Angeles, stayed over night at the Laguna Villa, Tuesday night. They were on their way home from La Jolla, where they went to see the eclipse.

Mrs. Conkey's niece, Mrs. L. F. Henneman came home from the Santa Ana hospital where she underwent an operation, Thursday.

Miss Edith Patterson has just left for Oregon where she will teach this year, twelve miles out of Spokane.

Tom Santchi and his wife and niece left Tuesday after spending ten days at the Laguna Beach hotel.

Mr. Conkey, manager and leader of the hotel, says he expects the best winter season Laguna has ever known, from present indications.

A new register was started on the ninth, Sunday, the old one, started in June 1922, having reached its full capacity.

Mrs. M. H. Taylor, Miss Carrie Taylor and William and Howell Taylor of Altadena have been in Laguna for a short time.

Mrs. J. A. Blaisdale, Miss Barbara Blaisdale, Mrs. E. M. Gates, and Miss F. M. Carwin were in Laguna, from Claremont for several days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beattie, Miss Helen Beattie, George Beattie and Paul C. Grow of Redlands were also at the hotel for a number of days.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hinshaw and Mrs. Elizabeth Copeland of Pasadena were also at the hotel this week.

Albert E. Tanberg represented Laguna Life at the recent editorial trip to the source of the electric power in the Sierras.

Mrs. E. M. DeAnna returned last week from Texas, where she has been all summer.

ORANGE YOUTH IS BURIED THURSDAY

ORANGE, Sept. 14.—The funeral of Albert Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Parsons of 254 North Grand street, who died at the Veterans' Red Cross hospital in Greenville, S. C. was held Thursday, following services at the Gillogly and Schmidt funeral home. American Legion members acted as pallbearers. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Young Parsons joined the navy in 1918 and graduated from the Great Lakes naval training school in Chicago. He had been stationed at Pensacola, Fla., in the aviation corps for the past three years.

Girl Rescued From Bay at Newport Bay By Heroic Boy Scout

BALBOA, Sept. 14.—Not only has Charles Ehrhorn, 14 year old member of Boy Scout Troop of Newport Beach 46 merit badges but he has the credit for saving two lives within as many months.

Slightly less than two months ago young Ehrhorn saved a human from drowning in the bay. A week ago while sailing with several companions on the bay the youth was startled by a shriek for help.

Looking about he saw a young woman going below the surface of the water for the second time. Turning the tiller of the boat over to his companions he pulled off his coat and leaped into the water near to where the woman had disappeared.

As she came up he seized her. On shore the woman, whose name was not secured, was revived after she had been brought to shore in a boat by Harry G. Whitney.

DIFFICULT TESTS FOR J. C. STUDENTS

FULLERTON, Sept. 14.—The opening of the Fullerton junior college will occur at the same time as the opening of the Fullerton union high school, Monday, September 17.

Two tests will be given early in the session, the one a mental test, to be conducted by D. Thomas Newlin of the philosophy department, and the other in English composition, according to Dean W. T. Boyce of the college.

The mental test will be given in the Choral hall Friday, September 28, promptly at 1 o'clock p. m. This test will be required of all students who have previously taken mental tests either at the junior college or elsewhere. Classwork will be suspended during that time.

The English composition test will be given at 1 o'clock p. m., Friday, September 21, and will be required of all students who have not passed the University of California subject A examination. Other work will be suspended during that hour, and R. W. Borst, head of the English department, will give the examination.

New courses are offered by the college as follows: Art, applied art, microscopic technique, business correspondence, mathematical theory of investment, actual business, fundamentals of corporation accounting, dramatic art, American literature, history of the Americans, college algebra, and theory of philosophy.

Dress Rehearsals
For Play at Park

BUENA PARK, Sept. 14.—Dress rehearsals were held Wednesday and Thursday evenings for the play, "The Patron of Art," to be given at the school hall Friday evening. The next event of importance after the play is the dah-lia show to be held here at the Masonic temple September 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson, who were recently married in Canada, are now at home to their friends at their residence on Tenth street.

The Golden Rule Girls' class of the Congregational Sunday school held a picnic at La Mirada, Wednesday. Those to enjoy this outing were the Misses Mildred Bacon, Beulah and Margaret Nelson, Jean and Plum Magill, Eunice Mann, Bertha Robinson, Ruth Davis, and Mrs. Hazel G. Davis.

Mrs. M. S. Berkey spent Wednesday with Mrs. L. R. Newman in Fullerton.

L. J. Robeson is moving and remodeling his garage.

E. Bastady is driving a new car. Miss Katherine Gurly of La Habra has been the guest of Miss Florence Schofield. Florence and Mary Schofield were visitors in Fullerton Wednesday. Mary Schofield will leave soon for Medford, Texas, where she will teach in a girls' college.

Harper tied the score in the ninth with a homer and drove in the run in the tenth that gave the Reds a 5 to 3 victory over the Cubs.

Miller's single in the 11th inning gave the Athletics a 3 to 2 victory over the Browns.

Walter Johnson outpitched Sylvester Johnson and the Senators beat the Tigers, 7 to 3.

Champion Is Choice Of James J. Jeffries

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—Dempsey will stop Firpo in a few rounds, was the prediction made here today by James J. Jeffries, former heavyweight champion. "Right hand fighters like Firpo are the bunk," said Jeff. "It has been scientifically proved that the kick is in the left hand and that it is fatal to lead with the right." "Dempsey comes nearest of the present day crop to the old time heavyweights. He will not lose the title for several years, to come. I think he would beat Harry Wills in three or four rounds."

Husband Shot Her, Wife's Suit Claims

LONG BEACH, Sept. 14.—Declaring on the witness stand that her husband shot her through the calf of the left leg, that he often beat her and frequently has cast stones at her, Wildie F. Hilliard was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Henry O. Hilliard.

Champ, Challenger Arrive In New York For Title Bout at Polo Grounds

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The trail from an obscure drug store in far away Argentina to a chalked, rope-bound battlefield, where 80,000 screaming fans looked on, will end tonight for Luis Angel Firpo in a blind alley, or in an open door to fame and great wealth, when the South American meets Jack Dempsey at the Polo Grounds in a fight for the world's heavyweight championship.

Only Firpo and a few of his loyal countrymen who set out in a strange way on their strange mission, believed this morning that they had not reached the end of their trail. The preponderance of opinion, expert and casual, pointed for Firpo a position on his back where he would gaze at the night skies and see his ambition going up with the wisps of smoke from a monstrous crowd of spectators.

Jack Dempsey, smaller and less strong, but greater in skill, experience and technique and a better two-handed hitter, was a 3 to 1 favorite in the betting to retain his title as the greatest fighter in the world by knocking out the challenger. Firpo has attempted to upset all ring tradition by training as no other aspirant for the championship trained and fighting as no other warrior since the days of club and stones has fought. Because skill in his profession and the ability to get the most out of human resources are counted as an overwhelming handicap against crude strength and antique methods, Dempsey was considered a sure victor by experts and the chief topic preceding the battle was the controversy over the number of rounds that Firpo would be able to retain a vertical position in front of one of the ring's most effective assaults.

Breeze Sweeps Gotham.
Gray low hanging clouds and a chilly breeze that swept over the city made the weather settings far more appropriate for a football game than for an outdoor boxing contest. The conditions proved a big break in favor of the champion. When the weather was so chilly at White Sulphur Springs that he had to work in a swimming suit and a full set of heavy tights, Jack Dempsey complained, but his work under these conditions will fit him far better for the fight than the warm tropical sun of Atlantic City, where the big Argentinian prepared himself for the biggest battle of his life.

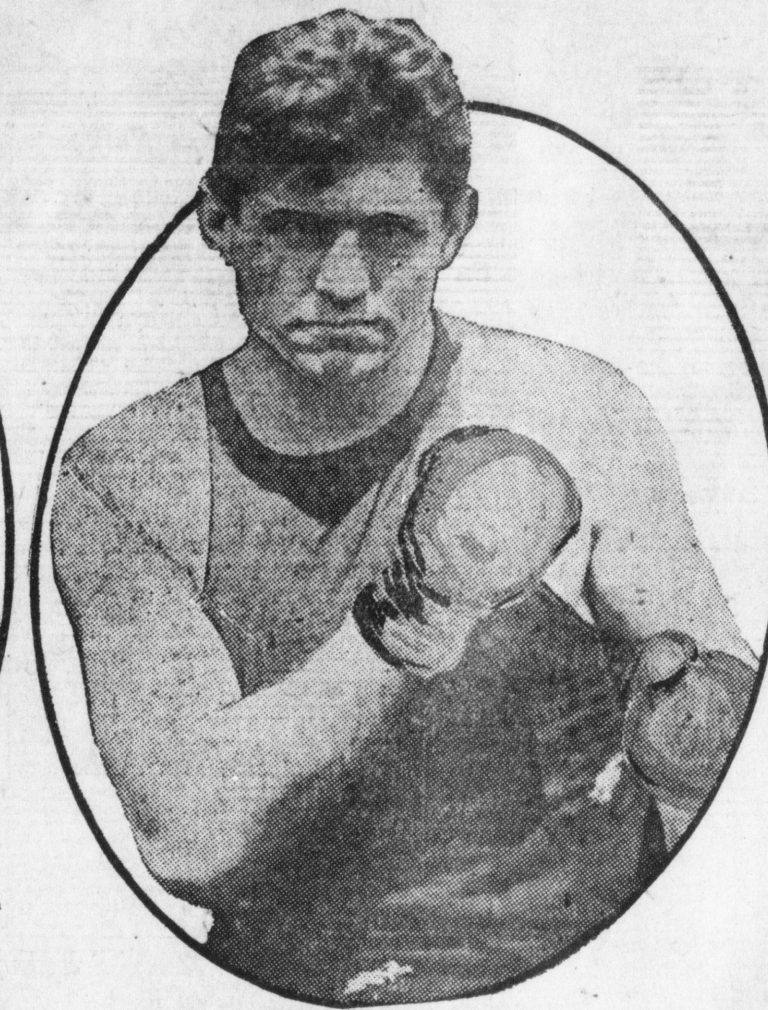

Although there were more than 5,000 assorted seats available this morning at the box office, Tex Rickard predicted that a capacity crowd of 85,000 would be in the park when the principals enter the ring at 9:30 o'clock.

Change Box Time.
Rickard at the last minute decided to send the main bout in at 9:30 instead of 10 o'clock, but it is possible that the usual before-the-battle ceremonies will consume so much time that the going for the first round of the scheduled 15

S. A. SECONDS BARRED BY CIRCUIT

County School Loop Takes New Action On Play For Southern Cal. Titles

Although the Orange league has rescinded its action prohibiting members of the organization from competing for Southern California championship honors after the regular season is completed and has extended an invitation to Santa Ana and Fullerton to return to the fold, Santa Ana, at least, will not continue its affiliation with the circuit this fall, local school officials stated today.

At a meeting of the league Ana officially asked to withdraw from the league in all first team contests but requested permission to compete in second and weight team sports.

After considerable discussion, the league unanimously adopted a resolution to the effect that the Orange league is not in favor of retaining either Santa Ana or Fullerton in any sport if they withdraw from first team football.

A resolution was adopted, however, inviting the two schools to remain as members of the organization.

A committee composed of Coaches Davis of Orange, Hoenschel of Santa Ana, and Murray of Fullerton, was appointed to arrange a tentative football schedule without Santa Ana and Fullerton.

In the meantime, the California Interscholastic federation has been requested to hold the Orange league in status quo.

Play on Saturdays

At the opening of the meeting, Principal J. W. Means, Tustin, was elected president of the league and S. A. Henderson, Orange, was named secretary. J. S. Malcolm, Capistrano, was elected to represent the Orange County league in the California Interscholastic federation.

EIGHT TEAMS JOIN S. A. INDOOR LEAGUE

Industrial Clubs Begin to Battle For City Title Next Tuesday Night

Eight teams will fight it out for the supremacy of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. Industrial Indoor Baseball league which begins next Tuesday night, it was learned here today, when T. P. McKee, local "Y" secretary, announced the complete schedule for the circuit.

These teams are the Roehm-Sylvester company, Excelsior Creamery company, Dale Hardware company, Santa Ana Printers, Smart and Final company, Post Office, Robertson Electric company and the Southern Counties Gas company.

The teams will play one game a week, closing their season's play November 1. Contests will be played at the local "Y" athletic field. The schedule follows:

First Week
Sept. 18—Roehm-Sylvester vs. Excelsior Creamery; Dale Hardware vs. Printers.

Second Week
Sept. 25—Roehm-Sylvester vs. Post Office; Robertson Electric vs. Gas company.

Third Week
Sept. 27—Smart-Final vs. Gas company; Excelsior Creamery vs. Robertson Electric.

Young Santa Ana Sure Luis Firpo To Win Title Struggle

Elwood Stevens in a very small little boy but like thousands of other Santa Anans he is keenly interested in the outcome of the Dempsey-Firpo mill for the heavyweight championship tonight.

Furthermore Elwood has an opinion of his own as to who will be the winner of the great ring struggle.

His opinion, as sent to The Register today follows: "Dempsey will go the limit but Firpo will win."

ARGENTINE PICKED BY JACK MAULIFFE

BY JACK MAULIFFE
(Retired Lightweight Champion)
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Taking it for granted that Luis Angel Firpo is game, I pick him to win the heavyweight championship of the world tonight from Jack Dempsey.

Previously, I have expressed this opinion and my friends have told me that I am crazy. I am entitled, of course to deny that, but I will admit that I am decidedly lonesome and perhaps alone "among the experts" who are few in even giving the South American a chance.

My prediction is based upon what I saw in both training camps, what I observed in the previous fights of both men and what I have learned from long experience in the boxing game as a world's champion.

Firpo is big and strong and he can hit. He has done everything that was asked of him and he did just as much in working himself up to the bout for the world championship as Jack Dempsey did.

If he shoots his right hand a couple of times and Firpo does not fall, Dempsey will be up against it, as he will have to wear down the South American and in a long fight Firpo will have all the advantage.

SPARKS, JIM TANGLE AT BEACH TONIGHT

Colored 158-Pounder Will Face Eastern Boxer; McMullen Meets Kelsey

Just how good is Sunny Jim? Orange county boxing fans who have followed the doings of the San Francisco middleweight should know pretty well after tonight when the colored boy boxes Speedy Sparks, Eastern middleweight, in the main event at the Kid Mexico's Huntington Beach arena.

Sunny Jim holds decisions over virtually every man his size on the Pacific coast with the exception of Bert Colima and Kid Mexico himself. Sparks, a southpaw, comes to the coast with a good record, having defeated such men as Jimmy O'Hagen and Cowboy Padgett, and having gone to a ten-round draw with the well known Jack Malone.

The semi-windup should be one of the bright spots of an apparently very well balanced card. Packy McMullen and Sailor Ray Kelsey sent the beach fans into hysterics two weeks ago when they slugged through four gory rounds to an upsticks verdict. The lads are evenly matched as to height and weight and both are willing mixers.

The bill's most attractive feature probably will be the battle royal in which five huge colored lads will mingle. Ted Frenchie, well known middleweight, will lead the boys into the ring and Frenchie always is good for a flock of laughs.

The balance of the card follows: Toby Montoya vs. Billy Herold, 118 pounds.

Dick Gard vs. Frankie Kress, 145 pounds.

Kid Chile vs. Connie Ray, 118 pounds.

Young Benny Leonard vs. Young Rocky Kansas, 60 pounds.

FIRPO'S FATHER IS SURE LUIS TO WIN

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 14.—After a frog-fishing expedition into the swamps near the city, Augustin Firpo, father of the South American champion, returned to his home this morning and started the day by praying for his gladiator son.

The father of Firpo was found later in the drug store owned by Mateo Bascialla, where the big Argentine aspirant for the world's heavyweight championship worked as a boy.

Fans Again Advised To Be At Park Early For Returns Tonight

Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo will enter the ring at the Polo Grounds tonight at 9:30 instead of 10 p. m., according to dispatches received here today from New York.

For this reason Santa Ana fans who will hear megaphoned The Register's complete returns from the scene of the big battle were advised to be at Birch park not later than 5:15 p. m.

While it is probable the usual ceremonies will prevent the big fight getting under way before 6 p. m., Santa Ana time, the public is advised to be on hand early to be sure of not missing any of the "dope."

Sounds Reasonable

A PUZZLE A DAY

 ADIAN INES TER
In the sentence shown above, there are four groups of letters missing. Each group is composed of the same three letters; but no letter appears twice in the same individual group. In each case the three letters form a separate syllable, and they form a word in themselves. Can you complete the sentence?

Yesterday's answer:

Seven points can be successfully crossed by observing the following rule: Start at any point, follow across and cross out another. But on your second move, start from a point that will enable you to follow across and cross out the point from which you moved the time before. (Example: go from 1 to 4; 6 to 1; 3 to 6; 8 to 3; 5 to 8; 2 to 5; 7 to 2.)

MR. HOMESEEKER there are vital business reasons why I can give you a REAL BARGAIN THIS WEEK in one of my seven fine new five and six room houses just completed or being completed.

BIG SAVING THIS WEEK

In 7 New Homes

Some time ago I bought 25 lots at $250 to $500 per lot below PRESENT VALUE and contracted for 22 lumber and material bills at a LARGE SAVING compared with the present market. I'm just completing a group of nine houses, two of which are sold. I MUST SELL THE OTHER SEVEN QUICKLY, otherwise my building program is halted and I'll be unable to take delivery of the material bought. I CAN UNDERSELL THE MARKET and I AM GOING TO DO IT. But please remember these are cheap, thrown-together houses, they are DIXON'S DURABLE DWELLINGS with a reputation for substantiality, durability, serviceability, to maintain. ALL are in highly restricted tracts, comparatively close in, near schools, and on full size lots worth $1500 to $2200 each.

AT LEAST $1000 cash required. NO used car trades considered. But if you want to buy a Real Bargain and are READY TO SHOOT when you find it, JUST COME—A-RUNNING. To quick, snappy, DIRECT BUYERS, I'm offering some EXTRA, SPECIAL inducements this week.

CALL FOR COSTA MESA APPLES

Far be it from us to attempt to tell anyone what he ought to eat. We might suggest meat to a vegetarian, or eggs and milk to somebody who doesn't care for either eggs or milk. Or we could say that "an orange a day drives dull care away."

But we do believe that just now a suggestion concerning apples will be both timely and advantageous. Orange county grows excellent apples. True, apples are not one of our major crops, but they make up a crop that is of increasing importance. Just how big an industry apple growing in this county will become depends to a large extent upon the local demand that is created for home grown apples. For that reason, the situation that confronts the apple growers of the county is one of consequence to all of the residents of the county.

Apple growers of Costa Mesa have had some difficulty in marketing their crop. That difficulty, as we view it, is not due to the quality and flavor of the fruit so much as it is to the fact that consumers of apples in the county are used to calling for apples grown elsewhere. There can be no other reason than that for preference given in some of our local markets to apples grown in Watsonville or Utah or some other distant place.

Our suggestion to housewives and others who buy apples in local markets, then, is this: "Ask for Costa Mesa apples." Costa Mesa apples are entitled to a fair trial, and, if given a trial, we are sure that they will meet the demands of good judges of apples, which most of us are.

UP TO THE MOTOR SQUADS

There are a number of advantages to be gained in the re-organization of the county motor squads of the state under a state department. Whether the advantages will counter-balance the disadvantages remains to be seen. At least, the state system is to be tried out with virtually all of the counties of the state co-operating. Orange county is one of the counties that have fallen into line with the state program.

One of the distinct advantages of the new system is that a captain of the squad is designated for each of the counties. There seems to be an impression over the state that many of the county squads have not been very active, and that some of them have been active in directions that counted for little in the betterment of traffic conditions.

The disposition of motorcycle officers to depend almost entirely upon speed traps for catching speeders was one of the reasons why the change in the system was considered advisable. Motorcycle officers working at a speed trap for several hours a day ordinarily would catch enough speeders to make the results look like a day's work.

A weakness of the old system was that in many of the counties the motorcycle squads worked under the general direction of the district attorney, but had no other directing head. This district attorney, in the ordinary county, had many other things to look after, and the business of seeing to it that officers were working eight hours a day in endeavors that counted for most in controlling undesirable traffic conditions was bound to become a side issue with him.

Under the new arrangement there is a thorough organization of forces charged with a specific job. The captain of a squad is in duty bound to see to it that the men under him are putting forth their best efforts.

The new state law has handicapped motorcycle officers in gathering evidence. It specifies that evidence taken in a speed trap cannot be used. It is not expected that this provision of the law will stand the test of legal attack. For the present, in this county, the speed trap is done away with, and in doing away with it on long straightaway highways, where it was needed least, it is done away with on North Main street and other streets where there could be no real objection to its use and where it served a good purpose.

Vigorous and consistent service must be secured. It is more important under the new system than under the old, especially so if the new system is to stand the test of experience. With the ever increasing amount of traffic and problems, laxity of enforcement of traffic laws would prove exceedingly costly in life and property. It is the duty of the driver of an automobile to obey the law all the time everywhere. The abolition of the speed trap should be no temptation to him; and it is the business of the motorcycle officers to see to it that those who fail for the temptation to break the traffic laws are held just as rigorously in check as ever. Many motorists have the idea that the new law lets the bars down. It is up to the motor captains and their squads to show the public that the traffic laws on the books mean just what they say.

"LIVE AT HOME" MOVEMENT

North Carolina reports that last year's "live at home" campaign was very successful. It was a popular movement backed by the state government. People all over the state pledged themselves to plant larger and better gardens and to use them in feeding their families and selling the surplus, instead of depending so largely as they had in past years on produce raised elsewhere.

Halifax county, as an example, had 260 new summer gardens and 100 new winter ones. Mecklenburg county, in addition to hundreds of new gardens, brought in 100 milk cows. Many mills gave vacant lots to employees who would use them, and they were cultivated to advantage. Egg production was greatly increased, as was milk and butter production. The state fair added to the benefits by showing, along with exhibits of new vegetables and other products, how to use them in the diet.

This is a movement which the South has sorely needed, and which is being pushed vigorously in Georgia and other southern states. It bids fair to remedy the evils attending the "one crop" practice, providing the necessities of life in a year when tobacco or cotton fails, and at all times adding greatly to the health, vigor and happiness of the people.

It is a movement, too, which might well spread throughout the northern states, where production of garden, orchard, poultry and dairy products for the use of the farmer's own family is less common than it might be.

There is far too much, in every section, of serving on the farm table canned milk and vegetables and eggs from the storage house. It may be that one reason why city folk in general have better health than country folk is that they have a more plentiful supply of fresh food. And let us apply these remarks to farmers and fruit growers of Orange county.

Many farmers and fruit growers are so busy growing beans or sugar beets or oranges that they haven't time to grow garden truck. The situation, as a rule, here is not the serious one that it is in country districts where the distance to markets precludes buying of fresh produce. With our good roads and automobiles ninety per cent of Orange county's farmers can go to town nearly every day and buy their vegetables, eggs and milk at less cost than they can produce them.

Knowledge is not so important to the individual as the power to think and act in terms of his knowledge. This means not only conveying information to others, but guiding them in terms of this information.

Citizenship Training

Fresno Republican.

Putting into effect of a new state law requiring the teaching of facts about civil government and also of American ideals of public life is timely. The new law applies to all schools. It requires that courses shall be specially set for these subjects and lays upon the state superintendent of public instruction responsibility for seeing that such courses are properly carried out.

Doubtless the most of private as well as public schools already have such courses in effect, in their high school departments. Doubtless some public schools may be negligent in their handling of such courses. The purpose of the law is to be that every child in California, no matter where he gets his schooling, shall be afforded an opportunity to understand, constructively, the part that civil government plays in his life.

Our theory of government requires the conscious and regular participation of all citizens in it. The citizen that does not take part in the government by voting and by an understanding of what is taking place in public life is a drag on the government. And the citizen who only occasionally and fitfully expresses an opinion or takes a part in government affairs, is as much a trouble maker as any amateur is apt to be.

The state of California properly does not arrogate to itself the right to conduct all schools. We recognize and permit private schools, whether for primary or higher education. But we do require that private schools shall fulfill certain functions. They shall conform to certain standards.

One of these standards is now expressed definitely in this new state law. The young Californian shall grow up with a knowledge of his own citizenship.

Be Sure It Is Real

Fresno Republican.

If you are a native of California, you probably have little conception of the luxury of fruit. You have been accustomed to good fruit all your life. Possibly you have complained about the cost. You have not been able to understand why you should pay as much for it at the fruit stands, when you hear that, some seasons, it rots on the trees for want of picking. And you complain, if it happens to be a little overripe, without understanding how difficult it is, even in a fruit country, to pick peaches or grapes or plums so they will reach the consumers' hands just in the right condition. No, to you, fruit is so nearly a necessity that you deal with it as a necessity and complain about it as a necessity.

But if you are from Maine or Minnesota, or Ohio or Iowa, or from some other point in the East where the apple orchard is the only native fruit, or where some berries on a hill side are a much prized rarity, or where one goes miles to a creek bank to pick wild grapes—here California fruit is not a commonplace.

And yet, the ease of modern transportation, and the facilities of modern business have brought California very close to being common. Instead of being an ideal of poetry, a dream for one to fulfill in old age, it is a matter of walking down to a corner fruit store and buying.

When for our profit, a slice of California beauty, California taste, California joy of living, can be put into every home, throughout the other 47 states, ought we not have a sense of responsibility? Oughtn't we make sure that our California name is not besmirched by deception, by fraud? Ought we not be sure that this California that is sold for 10 cents by a dealer in Peoria, Illinois, is a little bit of the heaven that the little boy or girl who is to eat it has heard about and hopes to taste. Why not make this "California" real all over this land of ours?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

IS YOUR CHILD DELICATE?

I have often wondered why parents will say, "You know John or Mary is delicate, and so I don't ask them to do much around the house." John gets up and cutting the grass or taking out ashes, and Mary is not required to do any household chores. Now, if John or Mary is delicate, the family doctor should be consulted. Don't ask him for a good tonic for them, but ask him to take a look over them. There must be a reason for calling them delicate—let him help you to find it.

Youngsters that are considered delicate lose a large part of the necessary training in life.

From the moral and mental standpoint they lose heavily. A delicate boy can be just a little slack in his attendance at school, in his general care of clothes and body, and in his general conduct in school or in the home, and the old cry goes up, "Oh, he's delicate."

Now the mental and moral is hardly my field, but I believe you'll agree with me in the above statement.

What about him physically? The same old error occurs. He is allowed to get up when he likes, eat what he likes, go to bed when he likes, and does not undergo in any exercise or games because he doesn't like them.

Now, when you come to think of it isn't it absurd? The youngster, after being overhauled by the family physician, should have more thought and care spent on him from a hygienic standpoint than a normal child. As a matter of fact he has less, because the bugbear, "he is so delicate," is allowed to interfere with progress—mental, moral, and physical.

So if you have a "delicate" child, see that he gets outdoors every day, gets good food and only at bedtime, that he gets at least ten hours sleep, and that he is encouraged to play like other children.

Words and Sense

Stockton Independent

Joseph Conrad, one of the most eminent writers of the present day, lays great stress on the importance of choosing the right word, saying: "He who wants to persuade should put his trust, not in the right argument, but in the right word."

Appreciation of meticulous care in choice of words is not new but dates as far back as the days of Job, who exclaims: "How forcible are right words!"

But words are but the medium of expression and as desirable and as pleasing as it is to exercise care in their choice, after all the thought back of them is the vital thing. When Polonius questions Hamlet as to the book he reads, the contemptuous reply of Hamlet is "words, words, words," which might perhaps mean he was persuading one of the "best sellers" of that day.

By all means let right words be used, but let them be linked to good sound argument for real power and effect.

MY CALIFORNIA GARDEN

My California garden!—'tis the dearest little spot—
With daisies winking shyly at the sweet forget-me-not,
And red and pink carnations, and the violets of blue,
Exchanging loving glances in the early morning dew!
What if my golden poppies close their sleepy eyes at night,
They awaken with a greeting at the touch of morning light!
And join the gladiolus and the asters, bright and fair,
That dance along the pathways winding in and out of there;
When roses whisper secrets in their winsome little way,
The honeysuckle climbs the wall to hear what they've to say,
And the modest pansy blossoms all lift up their tiny heads—
Like fragments of a rainbow from out their lowly beds!

See yonder tall wistaria, now swaying on the breeze—
Its purple clusters playing peek-a-boo among the trees,
And nodding in the sunshine with their faces all aglow,
The dahlias and chrysanthemums are proudly bowing low;
Down from the garden wall the dainty yellow roses peek
To watch the red geraniums a-playing hide-and-seek,
And fancy-colored hollyhocks, dressed up in Sunday best,
Like sentinels of olden time, tower high above the rest;
So many pretty posies in my garden bud and bloom—
The air is ever fragrant with the sweetest of perfume;
O, wondrous are the little buds and blossoms, rich and rare,
That greet me with a smile and crowd about me everywhere!
Throughout the spring and summer and the fall and winter time,
They frolic in the out-of-doors, and up to the trellis climb—
Unmattered and unfettered by a cloak of snow and ice,
Day after day my garden is an earthly paradise!
And as I sit and ponder in this garden spot of mine,
My thoughts, somehow, are lifted up unto the things divine!
'Tis heaven just to rest beneath my rosy-scented bowers,
For God speaks to me, daily, through my California flowers.

To Lengthen Span of Life

Oakland Tribune

The average American now lives to the age of 46, compared with 41 back in 1870. But, by 1950, people will have a life span of 70 years, predicts Dr. George Martin Kober of Georgetown university medical school.

His prediction, of course, is based on a supposition that people will increasingly live more sensibly and correctly.

We hope so. But Doc certainly is an optimist.

Four hundred years ago the average length of human life was somewhere between 18 and 20 years. And it was only 25 years, as late as 1800. A gain of about five years in two centuries.

There has been a gain of 31 years in the average life span, since 1800.

People live longest in New Zealand, averaging 60 years at death. In India the average age of death is before 25.

These "average" figures, however, are arrived at by adding up and striking an average of all deaths, including babies. The gain has been mostly in cutting down the death rate among children, especially babies. This has raised the average. It is doubtful whether there are any more people living to "a ripe old age" than formerly. Or even as many, for that matter.

The gain has been made largely in cradle years. As regards individuals who reach maturity, they seem to die at about the same average age as in former generations.

As far back as 1908, experts estimated that three million Americans were constantly on the sick list, and that forty-two out of every 100 of these illnesses were preventable cases. Similar situation today.

When people succumb to preventable diseases, they generally are victims of their own carelessness. This carelessness in many cases results from underestimating their personal value in cold dollar and cents.

For instance, take a man with an income of $3,000 a year. Now, $3,000 is 6 per cent interest on an investment of $50,000. If the $3,000-a-year man had an auto or any other machine worth $50,000 he would insure it against every possibility of disaster, and he would care for it as if it were a priceless possession. You can imagine a radio big neglecting a $50,000 receiving station if he owned it.

On the other hand, the $3,000-a-year man often neglects his $50,000 body as if it were an old bit of junk.

Give your body a square deal. Treat it with the consideration and care that its high value deserves.

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS and his CUFFY BEAR ~
~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

"It's sperrits!" shrieked the Fat Lady

"I will protect you," said the gallant Commodore Mudgett.

THE MYSTERIOUS CRIES

Crouched in the Wild Man's pit, Johnnie Green listened intently. He heard a few dull thuds, as of falling bodies, and the quick thump of hurrying feet.

Gradually the noise died away. All the sound that remained in the side-show tent was an excited chatter of a few voices, among which he recognized those of Commodore Mudgett the Midget and the Fat Lady.

Thinking that he could safely show himself now, Johnnie Green tried to scramble out of the pit. But to his dismay he soon found that its sides offered him no foothold.

And when he stood on tiptoe, with his arms stretched above his head, his hands were still far from the top.

A sudden terror seized him. What if the Wild Man should come back?

"Help! Help!" he cried. "My goodness! Who's that?" screamed the Fat Lady. "Who called for help?"

After the Wild Man had run outside, with the crowd scattering before him, the freaks in the side-show left their platforms. They were gathered in an excited group, talking, when that cry, "Help! Help!" startled them.

"It was somebody out of doors," said one of the freaks, in reply to the Fat Lady's question. The speaker was the lady who, when blindfolded, could name any object that you showed her husband. You would naturally think that a person with her gifts would be able to answer any question that anybody might ask. But the Fat Lady told her flatly that she was mistaken.

"That cry for help," the Fat Lady declared, "came from inside this tent. There it is again!" she quavered. "It's certainly somewhere in this tent. But there's nobody here except us. Oh, dear! Oh, dear! I'm terribly frightened."

"Don't be alarmed, Miss Boggs," Commodore Mudgett the Midget pipped up. "It's only a practical joke. Mr. Higgins is trying to fool us."

The Commodore smiled knowingly at Mr. Higgins, the ventriloquist. But that gentleman scowled at him and asserted that he hadn't made a single sound.

"Help! Help!" came the weird call again, even while Mr. Higgins was speaking.

"It's sperrits!" shrieked the Fat Lady. And her great dumpling of a face turned as pale as dough.

Commodore Mudgett glanced behind him uneasily, as if he feared that some invisible hand might seize him and whisk him away. But he tried to appear brave. He set his cap at a jaunty angle, and stamped one of his tiny feet, and told the Fat Lady not to be scared.

"I'll protect you, Miss Boggs," he said gallantly.

"Oh! Oh!" gasped Miss Boggs a moment later. "The sperrits are calling you, Commodore!" (Copyright 1923, Metropolitan News-Service, New York.)
